

Circleville City Council Defeats Mayor's 'Model Cities' Proposal

City Council Tuesday voted against Mayor Richard Gerhardt's "Model Cities" federal planning grant application by a 5-2 count.

The negative vote came after a lengthy discussion between the city's new third ward councilman, Harold Clifton, and Mayor Gerhardt.

Mayor Gerhardt explained that although the application was for one year, the "model cities" was basically a five year program.

The budget presented in the application called for a $96,000 expenditure. The city would have been committed to $10,000 in cash and $9,776 in "in kind" contribution.

THE federal grant requested was $76,704. The mayor explained that after the first grant was approved, additional grants would be available on an $8-20 basis to implement the program.

Dr. David Goldschmidt and David Crawford were the only two councilmen voting for the resolution to make the application for the grant.

Councilmen Keith Wagner, John Jenkins, Harold Clifton,

Noble Barr and Boyd Horn all cast negative votes despite the statement by the mayor that the application did not commit council to accept the grant if approved.

Clifton indicated that he had not been a member of council long enough (he was sworn in at the beginning of last night's meeting) to become familiar with the program.

In other legislative action, an ordinance granting Elsea Inc. permission to negotiate with the public utilities board for sewer service to their proposed trailer park expansion was passed.

The ordinance set a price at $100 per tap for up to 170 units. Asa Elsea, a representative of the firm, said that only 31 taps were being considered for immediate expansion.

ELSEA's mobile homes park is outside the city limits. Elsea noted the firm would now probably view more favorably any annexation proposal for the northeast which would include the trailer park.

A lengthy ordinance submitted for the proposed multi-channel cable television service was read and passed by a 6-1 vote. Horn was the lone dissenting councilman.

Installation fee for each television unit in a home was set at $10 by the ordinance. A fee of $5 per month would be assessed users for the first service and a $1 a month for each additional service. Non-domestic users would pay $5 for the first service and $2 a month for each additional service.

The multi-channel service is tied up in litigation at the present and is awaiting federal approval before it will be installed in the city.

A pay increase for members of the service department was approved. The new wage scale establishes the salary of foreman of the service department at $4,992 annually. Hourly rates are $2.30 for mechanics $2 for equipment operators; $2.10 for broom operators and $1.85 for public service receptionists.

The pay increase was adopted by a unanimous vote. Crawford, chairman of the service committee, urged passage of the pay increase, noting that it was difficult to employ and keep personnel at the old low pay scale.

MAYOR Gerhardt, in his report to council, stated the city had made a commitment to purchase an aerial ladder for

Board Endorses Park Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Tuesday the endorsement by a special advisory board of 11 proposals to establish or support national parks and historic sites.

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command announced today that 2,002 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in the past three days of heavy fighting in and around Saigon.

But despite his heavy losses, the enemy battled on for the fourth day in streets on the capital's western edge.

The government put a 24-hour curfew on the western half of Saigon to aid its forces.

In comparison with the 2,002 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said allied casualties in the first three days of the new wave of attacks on Saigon totaled 211 killed and 831 wounded.

—30 Americans killed and 323 wounded, 181 South Vietnamese killed and 608 wounded.

"There isn't much going on today," a senior U.S. officer said. "The key is whether the enemy will be able to reinforce and they don't seem to be able to. As far as the major threat from the west, it doesn't seem to be developing. It looks as if it is petering out, but it's a little early to say officially."

Refugees from the western section said the Viet Cong were digging bunkers in the rubble of burned-out homes, apparently determined to hold out to the end.

U.S. helicopter gunships slammed rockets into the enemy positions on the western edge of the city, while farther to the west fight-bombers pounded enemy infiltration routes.

"Contacts throughout the Saigon area have been light and scattered today, with minimal contact in Saigon itself," the U.S. Command reported.

While eastern Saigon remained under a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, the government said it ordered the round-the-clock curfew in the western section "to prevent Viet Cong infiltration."

One enemy 100-pound rocket hit the heart of Saigon, killing civilian and wounding five, while 14 landed at Tan Son Nhut air base, on the northwest edge of the city.

A U.S. spokesman said three American servicemen were wounded at the base and damage was light. Other sources said five South Vietnamese also

Morris and Tootle Given Commission Nods by Dems

At least one new face was assured on the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners for the next term when Democrats Tuesday nominated newcomer Dick Tootle and incumbent Charles Morris Jr. for the two-way commissioner's race in the fall election.

Incumbent commissioner Lloyd Melvin was denied the nomination of his party for the post he has held for two terms. Charles Glitt also failed to receive the support of the Democratic party.

Republicans gave courtesy nominations to Everett Beers and Winfield Koch who ran unopposed for the two commissioners posts to be filled in the fall.

In a close run race Morris received 2,491 votes; Tootle, 2,411; Melvin, 2,139; Glitt, 2093. Republican Beers received 1813 courtesy votes and Koch 1501.

MORRIS, seeking his third consecutive term, is a lifelong resident of Pickaway County — born in Walnut Twp. He was graduated from Salt Creek Twp. School and attended Ohio State University, Columbus.

A World War II veteran, he spent almost three years in Europe and received several medals for his service.

Morris has served as commissioner of Pickaway County for eight years and trustee of Salt Creek Twp. for six years. He is an honorary member of the Township Trustees Assn. and is a member of the Tarleton Volunteer Fire Department.

Dick Tootle, who was an unsuccessful commission candidate two years ago, is a native of Wayne Twp., and has been a farmer in the area for 25 years.

Tootle has served on the Wayne Twp. Board of Education, has been treasurer of the Circleville PTA for two years and has assisted with local 4-H work and Little League Baseball programs.

He is currently president of the Pickaway County Farmers Club and is active in the Methodist Church.

HE AND his wife, Ruth, have two sons, Robert, a senior at Circleville High School, and Thomas, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Morris' electoral stronghold was in the county with Pickaway Twp. E his largest supporter, giving him 90 votes. In contrast he received only 10 votes from Perry Twp. W.

Tootle received his largest bloc of votes from the city with Circleville precinct 1-H giving him 92 votes. His worst showing was in Orient Village where he picked up only six votes.

Practical Joke: MUSHROOM DOG

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A friend of Ralph Whitson apparently pulled a practical joke by placing an ad in the St. Joseph News-Press that said: "Mushroom dog for sale. Points and retrieves, guaranteed. Call Ralph Whitson."

Whitson, a real estate operator who also raises dogs said he was swamped with calls. He said he had never heard of a dog trained to hunt mushrooms.

Outside the Saigon area.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu visited battle areas around Saigon Tuesday, his office said, and allied artillery fire had to be lifted several times so his helicopter could land.

Elsewhere in the ground war, enemy gunners slammed 160 rounds of rockets and artillery into U.S. positions at Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, U.S. casualties were reported light.

U.S. pilots reported destroying or damaging 100 trucks in the southern part of North Vietnam Monday, underlining reports from U.S. officials in Saigon and Washington that the movement of troops and supplies from North Vietnam south has greatly intensified since President Johnson on March 31 restricted U.S. bombing to the area south of the 19th parallel.

U.S. pilots since then have been flying as many bombing missions against the southern part of North Vietnam as they formerly flew against the whole country. But despite this intensified attack on a smaller target area, U.S. sources say 17,000 enemy supply trucks were seen moving through North Vietnam's southern panhandle and down the Ho Chi Minh trail in April. And the sources estimated that 100,000 men had infiltrated south since the lunar new year offensive in February.

There also had been heavy fighting in recent days below the demilitarized zone, but U.S. communiques today reported little significant ground action

Branigin, McCarthy See No Victor Due to Split Vote

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has proved his potency at the polls with victory in the first test of his White House campaign, but his rivals for the Democratic nomination denied today there were any clear winners or real losers in the Indiana primary.

Kennedy took 42 per cent of the vote.

Gov. Roger D. Branigin, the salty, tough-talking favorite son who claimed neutrality but leaned toward Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, ran second with 31 per cent of the vote; Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy ranked third.

But McCarthy insisted he was not distressed at his 27 per cent showing, claimed he is the real front-runner in the fight for the nomination, and said he would do battle another election day.

That day won't be long in coming, for he meets Kennedy again next Tuesday in Nebraska.

In a two-man race with Kennedy, McCarthy claimed, many of the Branigin votes would have gone to him.

"I'm very, very pleased," Kennedy said. "I thought I'd have a difficult time doing well here." He said he came to Indiana against the advice of professional politicians to tackle a popular governor they rated unbeatable.

"To come in here under these circumstances, to be able to do this well is very encouraging," Kennedy said.

McCarthy, Branigin force and promoters of the Humphrey campaign all said that Kennedy's was a minority victory.

Kennedy smiled. "I think it's better to win than to come in second or third," he said.

And by winning, he kept intact the chain of family election victories begun by his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, and shared by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Circleville City Council Defeats Mayor's 'Model Cities' Proposal

Voters Hand 2nd Term to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff

Pickaway County voters returned Sheriff Dwight Radcliff to office for a second four-year term by giving him a 783 vote margin in yesterday's primary election.

A Democrat, Radcliff will have no opposition in the general election this fall since the Republicans have no candidate.

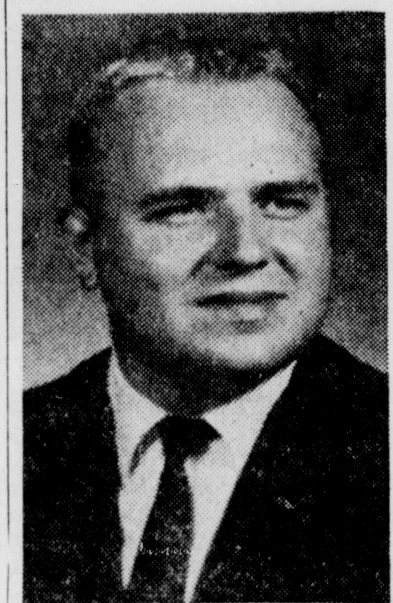

Radcliff received 3,240 votes in the primary, carrying a majority of the votes in all but 16 of the county's 54 precincts.

Walton W. Spangler received 2,457 votes according to the unofficial tabulation completed last night by the Pickaway County Board of Elections.

SPANGLER served one term as sheriff, defeating Radcliff's father, Charles Radcliff, in the 1960 primary election.

Dwight Radcliff won the nomination by a 36 vote margin in 1964 and then went on to defeat independent

Ammer Loses GOP Bid for Appeals Court

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer lost the race for the Republican nomination as Judge of the Fourth District Court of Appeals in Tuesday's primary.

Topping a list of four candidates in the GOP nomination race was Judge Earl E. Stephenson of Scioto County. Running second was Roy J. Gilliland of Jackson County. Judge Ammer ran in third place.

Winner of the GOP nomination received an unofficial 14,602 votes in the 15 counties' more than 700 precincts. Judge Gilliland's total was 14,327 and Judge Ammer tallied 13,875. A fourth candidate, Judge John C. Bacon of Meigs County received 6,339 votes.

Judge Stephenson will oppose Forrester R. Moore of Hocking County, an unopposed Democrat Tuesday, in the November general election.

IN Pickaway County, Judge Ammer received an unofficial 2,239 votes. The other three candidates received a combined vote of only 386.

Judge Ammer carried a majority of the votes cast in five of the 15 counties: Highland, Ross, Hocking, Pickaway and Washington.

His biggest obstacle was Scioto County, the most populated and Judge Stephenson's home. Stephenson received 6,333 votes there compared to Ammer's 1,061.

Morris and Tootle Given Commission Nods by Dems

At least one new face was assured on the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners for the next term when Democrats Tuesday nominated newcomer Dick Tootle and incumbent Charles Morris Jr. for the two-way commissioner's race in the fall election.

Incumbent commissioner Lloyd Melvin was denied the nomination of his party for the post he has held for two terms. Charles Glitt also failed to receive the support of the Democratic party.

Republicans gave courtesy nominations to Everett Beers and Winfield Koch who ran unopposed for the two commissioner posts to be filled in the fall.

In a close run race Morris received 2,491 votes; Tootle, 2,411; Melvin, 2,139; Glitt, 2,093. Republican Beers received 1813 courtesy votes and Koch 1501.

MORRIS, seeking his third consecutive term, is a lifelong resident of Pickaway County—born in Walnut Twp. He was graduated from Salt Creek Twp. School and attended Ohio State University, Columbus.

A World War II veteran, he spent almost three years in Europe and received several medals for his service.

Morris has served as commissioner of Pickaway County for eight years and trustee of Salt Creek Twp. for six years. He is an honorary member of the Township Trustees Assn. and is a member of the Tarlton Volunteer Fire Department.

Dick Tootle, who was an unsuccessful commission candidate two years ago, is a native of Wayne Twp., and has been a farmer in the area for 25 years.

Tootle has served on the Wayne Twp. Board of Education, has been treasurer of the Circleville PTA for two years and has assisted with local 4-H work and Little League Baseball programs.

He is currently president of the Pickaway County Farmers Club and is active in the Methodist Church.

HE AND his wife, Ruth, have two sons, Robert, a senior at Circleville High School, and Thomas, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Morris' electoral stronghold was in the county with Pickaway Twp. E his largest supporter, giving him 90 votes. In contrast he received only 10 votes from Perry Twp. W.

Tootle received his largest bloc of votes from the city with Circleville precinct 1-H giving him 92 votes. His worst showing was in Orient Village where he picked up only six votes.

Lawrence McKenzie Retires As Logan Elm Board Clerk

The Logan Elm Board of Education accepted the resignation of Lawrence McKenzie, clerk and treasurer of the board. McKenzie will retire effective July 1.

McKenzie started his career in the Pickaway County Schools as a bus driver in 1932. He was custodian at Pickaway Twp. School for several years.

George McDowell, county superintendent, related, "He (McKenzie) has been a good one. He knows better than anyone else what is going on in his district. We will miss him a great deal."

In other business, the board adopted three new textbook series, Laidlow English for grades 1-8, Heath science for grades 1-6 and Holt science for grades 7-8.

APPROVAL was granted for Davis Co. to make body repairs on school buses. The Logan Elm High School graduating list of 79 was read and approved.

John Henn reported on the purchase of new typewriters, desks and steam table. It was agreed to mail six weeks report cards as in previous years.

The resignation of Mrs. Marilyn Ganley as teacher was accepted. Goble Branham was employed as summer driver

'Y' Director Speaks at Chamber Meet

Harold Hewitt, director of the Pickaway County YMCA chapter, was a special guest at Tuesday's noon luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Hewitt told the chamber officials about current programs and classes being conducted by the "Y" and gave a report on tentative schedules for fall classes. He also noted that a membership drive is in the planning stages.

Wayne Smith, public relations chairman, reported the Students Summer Employment Program was under way with headquarters at the local DuPont plant. He urged persons in need of summer help to contact the office whose phone listing is 474-3111 extension 591.

William Hall, chairman of the community appearance committee, announced that Owens-Illinois was making litter boxes and bags available for use during Clean-Up Week now in progress.

Hall also noted that arrangements were being made for several "plantings" on the lawn of Berger Hospital.

Roy Huffer was on hand to explain legislation on several permissive taxes available to city and county governments. Most important of the available sources of income, according to Huffer, is the $5 additional tax on motor vehicle licenses. He said if local governments take advantage of the tax, it must be earmarked for road and bridge construction and improvement.

Tom Elise, president of the Jaycees, thanked the chamber for supporting Jaycee projects during the past year and asked for continued support for new officers who take office next month.

A new chamber member this month, according to Mrs. E. R. Bennett, is the Rev. Paul I. Wachs, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Local Issues Get Mixed Reaction from Ohio Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 12-mill school operating levy in Youngstown was turned down for the fourth straight time Tuesday and education officials feel there might be a mass walkout by teachers.

The levy was defeated, 21,754 to 16,002. The Youngstown Board of Education estimated the levy would have provided about $6 million annually and funds would have been used to provide wage increases for teachers and improve education in public schools.

use by the service department in repairing traffic control signals.

The truck is a 1960 model Ford, 1½-ton truck which is being sold by the State Highway Department. The cost of the truck is $600 and it appears to be in good condition, the mayor said.

He also noted that a traffic survey is being conducted in town and car counters would be set up at different locations throughout the city.

He noted the weeds on Clark Drive had been mowed by the service department and the cost would be placed on the tax duplicate of the property owner.

Although the costs have not been tabulated completely, Mayor Gerhard told council that the service department worked two days on the mowing project.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe announced the city's new fire truck had been placed in operation. Its radio was installed Saturday.

HE also noted that no one took the Civil Service test to become a member of the fire department.

Safety Director Robert Adkins noted that one appointment has been made to the police department. Francis W. Smallwood successfully took the civil service exam for the department and will begin his duties May 16. The police department is still one man short, Adkins noted.

He also informed council the controls for the signal at the West Main St. cross walk have arrived and will be installed as soon as they are tested.

A communication from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was read in which the gas company informed council of a rate reduction of 2.31 cents per cubic foot.

The State Department of Health filed a report of its inspection of the City Sewage Department.

A burning ordinance submitted by the safety department was held to a first reading. The ordinance permits the burning of papers between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. in an approved incinerator 20 feet away from buildings. It virtually prohibits all other burning of trash, without special permission of the fire chief.

Although city council usually holds a brief session on election nights, Tuesday's meeting lasted over 2½ hours.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Council Clerk Robert Shadley read a lengthy ordinance on the CATV franchise. Midway through the legislative reading, Chief of Police Robert Temple brought Shadley a glass of water.

At the end of the meeting, Marjorie Warner, who had been an applicant for the meter maid post, asked council why her application had not been given more consideration. She voiced an objection that took several minutes.

John Robinson, who formerly operated the city cab service, asked council what its feelings would be toward the operation of a mini-bus service.

Council members asked Robinson to present a detailed plan to the safety committee for study.

The Rev. David Allerdice, a member of Mayor Gerhard's advisory council, asked council why they voted against the "model cities" proposal. He received no answer.

Councilman Harold Clifton was sworn in by Charles Hosterman, city solicitor, at the beginning of the meeting. Joe Bell, council president, appointed Clifton to the finance committee.

During last night's meeting, the burning ordinance came up missing. Safety committee chairman John Jenkins was surprised when Shadley said all ordinances had been read. The ordinance was on Councilman Boyd Horn's desk and had not been given to the clerk for reading. Horn was opposed to the ordinance.

Officials said teachers also increased. Meanwhile, in Akron voters approved a one per cent city income tax renewal.

But in nearby Canton a 1½ per cent city tax was turned down.

The vote in Canton was 14,587 in favor and 13,604 opposed, a 51.7 per cent approval. The issue needed 60 per cent for passage.

Charge Two For Murder Of Women

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Jack "Murf the Surf" Murphy surrendered to police in nearby Miami today on a first degree murder warrant in the slayings of two former California secretaries who police wanted to question about a transcontinental securities conspiracy case.

A grand jury issued sealed indictments Tuesday in the brutal so-called "Whisky Creek" murders.

A statewide pickup order went out for Murphy, a beachboy-turned-jewel thief, and Jack Griffith, a karate expert. The order said first degree murder warrants were issued for the men.

"I'm sure both will surrender in due time," said Miami attorney David Russell, who said he represented Griffith. "There's no place to run."

The slain young women were Terry Rae Kent Frank, 23, and Annalie Marie Mohn, 21. Mrs. Frank was from Amberley, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb, and Miss Mohn was a German national.

Their bodies, weighted with concrete, were found in Whisky Creek near Hollywood Dec. 8.

Later, an audit at the Los Angeles brokerage house of Rutter, Jackson and Gray revealed $488,732 in securities were missing. Los Angeles police said the thefts were discovered after Mrs. Frank, a divorcee, and Miss Mohn quit the firm and moved to Miami Beach.

Named to Fraternity

Richard L. Glasco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Glasco of New Holland, and a junior at Bliss Business College, was formally inducted into Phi Theta Pi, honorary non-profit Commerce Fraternity, May 4, at Coventry Inn, Columbus.

The vote in Akron was 3-1 in favor of passage and the issue needed a 50 per cent majority.

The Akron tax, which yields about $11 million a year and accounts for 41 per cent of the city's general fund revenue, was adopted on a continuing basis. Previously it was approved for a six-year period ending last Jan. 1.

In Canton, it was proposed to increase a one per cent tax adopted in 1955 to 1½ per cent so it would yield about $6 million a year instead of the present $4 million.

In Cleveland, three city and three Cuyahoga County issues were approved, including two issues providing a raise for police and firemen that would keep their wages above any other Ohio city with a population of more than 50,000.

Of the other four issues, two dealt with health and welfare and the other two with the city-county Port authority.

Vandals Cause Of Cycle Mishap

Vandals were cited by the State Highway Patrol as the cause of a motorcycle mishap injuring two that occurred on Highway 159 at the junction of Boggs Road at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Stop sign at the traffic intersection was removed by vandals, according to the Patrol, making it difficult for motorcycleist Richard Butler, 23, Waverly, to notice the crossing in time to stop safely.

Butler's cycle spun out of control when he tried to stop suddenly on the gravel. The cycle skidded, crossed the road, hit the berm of High 159, struck a farm fence and turned over throwing Butler and his wife, Jessie, 21, into the fence.

Both of them were taken to Chillicothe Hospital for emergency care where Butler was treated for a fractured jaw and his wife for multiple bruises.

4 Named to OU Dean's List at Chillicothe Branch

Four Circleville area students attending the Chillicothe branch of Ohio University were named to the Dean's List for the winter quarter of the 1967-68 academic year.

The four listed were Carol Ann Orr, Route 2, New Holland; Anne Adams Etheridge, 314 N. Court St.; James Stone, Route 3; and Phillip Lahrmeyer, Route 2, Williamsport.

First quarter freshmen must have attained at least a 3.0 grade average out of a possible 4.0. Upperclassmen must have a 3.3 grade average.

Stock List Shows Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed ahead on a moderate scale in active trading this afternoon.

Gains by the averages were small but advances by individual stocks exceeded declines by nearly 250 issues.

Trading started off at a brisk pace, and the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape lagged by three minutes in reporting floor transactions. It later caught up.

New York Stock Exchange volume for the year topped one billion shares at 10:16 a.m. Last year the one-billion mark was reached May 26.

The Dow Jones average at noon was up 0.70 to 920.60.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead .2 at 311.0, with industrials unchanged, rails up .1 and utilities up .4.

Rockefeller Calls For Creative Cities Program

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called today for the development of "creative programs to rebuild our cities" so that slum areas become "decent and productive places to live and work."

The Republican presidential candidate said in a speech prepared for a University of Minnesota audience, "Such programs mean jobs—not handouts. They mean paychecks—not welfare checks."

"We must have the courage to take corrective action," the New York governor said. "If our hearts don't tell us that this is so, then the violence exploding in our cities certainly tells us."

He said that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. "died not for the cause of one color but of one idea: The idea of human dignity. It is this all-embracing—unifying—idea that we must learn to live."

Rockefeller said the nation cannot live "half in prosperity—half in poverty; half in comfort, half in squalor; half in hope and half in despair; any more than we could have endured as a nation half slave and half free."

Lawrence McKenzie Retires As Logan Elm Board Clerk

The Logan Elm Board of Education accepted the resignation of Lawrence McKenzie, clerk and treasurer of the board. McKenzie will retire effective July 1.

McKenzie started his career in the Pickaway County Schools as a bus driver in 1932. He was custodian at Pickaway Twp. School for several years.

George McDowell, county superintendent, related, "He (McKenzie) has been a good one. He knows better than anyone else what is going on in his district. We will miss him a great deal."

In other business, the board adopted three new textbook series, Laidlow English for grades 1-8, Heath science for grades 1-6 and Holt science for grades 7-8.

APPROVAL was granted for Davis Co. to make body repairs on school buses. The Logan Elm High School graduating list of 79 was read and approved.

John Henn reported on the purchase of new typewriters, desks and steam table. It was agreed to mail six weeks report cards as in previous years.

The resignation of Mrs. Marilyn Ganley as teacher was accepted. Goble Branham was employed as summer driver education instructor. Approval was granted for the business teacher to attend Vocational Business and Office Education Workshop in July. Mrs. Jewel Hinton, lunchroom supervisor, presented a progress report on the school lunch program. William Pangburn presented a public relations program outline.

Dates brought to the board's attention included Logan Elm High School Prom, May 13; Baccalaureate, May 28; Commencement, May 27; eighth grade commencements Salt Creek and Pickaway Twp. May 28 and Washington Twp. May 29.

K of C To Send Delegation to Convention

Grand Knight and Mrs. Dallas Elliott and Deputy Grand Knight and Mrs. John Vendinski of Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, will attend the 1968 Ohio State Council K of C Convention May 19-19 in Cleveland.

Delegates from each of Ohio's 281 councils will attend the 69th annual convention. Business to be undertaken includes election of state officers, enactment of resolutions dealing with current problems and announcing winners in the six point program contest.

The Knights' "Catholic Man of the Year" award will be made during the State Deputy's Banquet and Ball May 19.

Additional convention activities include a pre-convention party, memorial Mass, tea and style show and uncheon.

Chairman of the convention to be held in the Sheraton Cleveland Hotel is K of C State Treasurer Robert W. Lackner.

And so Indiana proved a preface to the contests to come, elections in Nebraska, in Oregon on May 28, and in California and South Dakota on June 4.

Richard M. Nixon won the Republican primary in Indiana when the first ballot was cast, for he was uncontested and write-in votes were not counted. That gave Nixon 26 Republican nominating votes.

It also gave him the outpouring of Republican votes he sought to prove his popularity. Nixon has said he could face tougher races in Nebraska and Oregon, where California Gov. Ronald Reagan is on the ballots. His only announced rival for the nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is not running in any primaries.

In Indiana, Nixon polled 494,766 votes in 4,280 precincts. That far surpassed the 408,408 ballots he won in a race against token opposition here eight years ago.

Judgeship Races Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voters nominated three Republicans and two Democrats who ran without opposition for the Ohio Supreme Court.

One of the Republican judges, incumbent John M. Matthias, Columbus, is assured of re-election for lack of opposition also in the November election.

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft, a Republican, will face appellate court Judge John C. Duffy, Columbus Democrat, in the November election for a six-year term beginning next Jan. 1.

Appellate Judge Thomas M. Herbert, Columbus Republican, will face Democrat Merrill D. Brothers, Columbus, for a term starting Jan. 2. Herbert is seeking to succeed his father, Judge Paul M. Herbert, who is retiring at the end of his term.

Matthias, son of a former Supreme Court Judge, will start a new term Jan. 1.

New College Set at Athens

The new college will embrace the journalism school, the school of communications, center for communications studies, and school of radio and television broadcasting.

Local Issues Get Mixed Reaction from Ohio Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A 12-mill school operating levy in Youngstown was turned down for the fourth straight time Tuesday and education officials feel there might be a mass walkout by teachers.

The levy was defeated, 21,754 to 16,002. The Youngstown Board of Education estimated the levy would have provided about $6 million annually and funds would have been used to provide wage increases for teachers and improve education in public schools.

Officials said teachers also increased. Meanwhile, in Akron voters approved a one per cent city income tax renewal.

But in nearby Canton a 1½ per cent city tax was turned down. The vote in Canton was 14,587 in favor and 13,604 opposed, a 51.7 per cent approval. The issue needed 60 per cent for passage.

The truck is a 1960 model Ford, 1½-ton truck which is being sold by the State Highway Department. The cost of the truck is $600 and it appears to be in good condition, the mayor said.

He also noted that a traffic survey is being conducted in town and car counters would be set up at different locations throughout the city.

He noted the weeds on Clark Drive had been mowed by the service department and the cost would be placed on the tax duplicate of the property owner. Although the costs have not been tabulated completely, Mayor Gerhardt told council that the service department worked two days on the mowing project.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe announced the city's new fire truck had been placed in operation. Its radio was installed Saturday.

HE also noted that no one took the Civil Service test to become a member of the fire department.

Safety Director Robert Adkins noted that one appointment has been made to the police department. Francis W. Smallwood successfully took the civil service exam for the department and will begin his duties May 16. The police department is still one man short of authorized strength and the fire department two men short, Adkins noted.

He also informed council the controls for the signal at the West Main St. cross walk have arrived and will be installed as soon as they are tested.

A Communication from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was read in which the gas company informed council of a rate reduction of 2.31 cents per cubic foot.

The State Department of Health filed a report of its inspection of the City Sewage Department.

A burning ordinance submitted by the safety department was held to a first reading. The ordinance permits the burning of papers between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. in an approved incinerator 20 feet away from buildings. It virtually prohibits all other burning of trash, without special permission of the fire chief.

Although city council usually holds a brief session on election nights, Tuesday's meeting lasted over 2½ hours.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
Council Clerk Robert Shadley read a lengthy ordinance on the CATV franchise. Midway through the legislative reading, Chief of Police Robert Temple brought Shadley a glass of water.

At the end of the meeting, Marjorie Warner, who had been an applicant for the meter maid post, asked council why her application had not been given more consideration. She voiced an objection that took several minutes.

John Robinson, who formerly operated the city cab service, asked council what its feelings would be toward the operation of a mini-bus service.

Council members asked Robinson to present a detailed plan to the safety committee for study.

The Rev. David Allerdyce, a member of Mayor Gerhardt's advisory council, asked council why they voted against the "model cities" proposal. He received no answer.

Councilman Harold Clifton was sworn in by Charles Hosterman, city solicitor, at the beginning of the meeting. Joe Bell, council president, appointed Clifton to the finance committee.

During last night's meeting, the burning ordinance came up missing. Safety committee chairman John Jenkins was surprised when Shadley said all ordinances had been read. In Solon, a 7.8-mil school levy was approved and voters in Summit County's Boston-Northampton School District renewed a 10.7-mil operating levy.

Lorain voters approved a 10-mil operating levy for the city's public schools. Three previous tries for passage of a school levy had failed and earlier this year teachers pushing for pay raises had stayed away from classes in protest.

Lorain County voters defeated a 1.25 mil levy for Lorain Community College, with 20,811 against and 16,118 for. The levy would have raised $10 million over 10 years.

A six-mil levy for public schools in neighboring Elyria also went down to defeat.

Napoleon voters passed a bond issue for a new high school.

Van Wert voters who had defeated the issue three previous times approved a 4.2-mil levy for construction of sewage facilities.

Guernsey County approved plans for a new county children's home.

Bellefontaine voters defeated a proposed 3.2 mil school levy, and Logan County Republicans defeated Sheriff Donald Horn's bid for renomination and county Prosecutor Robert Dunlap's hopes for another nomination.

Deweese Skidmore was nominated for the sheriff's job, Douglas MacGillivray for prosecutor. A proposal to consolidate the Attica, Bloom and Scipio Republic school districts of Seneca County was defeated.

A proposal to renew a 4.9 mil school levy in the Green Springs School District, in Seneca and Sandusky counties, was defeated.

A proposal to increase the size of Columbus City Council went down to defeat.

Licking County school levies in the districts of Granville, Heath, Southwest Licking, Licking Heights and Johnstown were approved, but a county property tax increase was defeated.

Willoughby voters rejected a city income tax but neighboring Willowick also approved a one-half of one per cent tax.

J. H. Dunlap Is Named OSU Trustee

JOHN H. DUNLAP JR.

A Pickaway County resident and prominent farmer of the Williamsport area, John H. Dunlap Jr., has been appointed a trustee of Ohio State University by Governor James A. Rhodes.

He succeeds Stanley Allyn of Dayton, the current board chairman who is retiring due to ill health.

Dunlap is a 1928 graduate of OSU and has been a member of the College of Agriculture Advisory Committee.

He received national recognition in 1966 when he was the recipient of the Ohio and National Wildlife Conservation awards.

BESIDES extensive farming operations, Dunlap owns and operates a Massey-Ferguson farm equipment and hardware business in Williamsport and operates grain elevators in Pickaway and adjoining counties.

He was a member of the first student senate while a student at OSU, served as its treasurer and helped write the body's constitution.

Dunlap's immediate family are all graduates of Ohio State as was his father, an uncle and a cousin.

Rockefeller Calls For Creative Cities Program

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called today for the development of "creative programs to rebuild our cities" so that slum areas become "decent and productive places to live and work."

The Republican presidential candidate said in a speech prepared for a University of Minnesota audience, "Such programs mean jobs—not handouts. They mean paychecks—not welfare checks."

"We must have the courage to take corrective action," the New York governor said. "If our hearts don't tell us that this is so, then the violence exploding in our cities certainly tells us."

He said that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. "died not for the cause of one color but of one idea: The idea of human dignity. It is this all-embracing—unifying—idea that we must learn to live."

Rockefeller said the nation cannot live "half in prosperity—half in poverty; half in comfort, half in squalor; half in hope and half in despair; any more than we could have endured as a nation half slave and half free."

Meeting in Paris

Initial elation over Hanoi's suggestion of Paris as a site to begin preliminary talks leading to a possible peace conference—and Washington's acceptance—has been tempered by realization that all that has been accomplished to date is that, after more than a month, a start has been made.

That it took six weeks to get this far may be taken as an indication of the rocky road ahead. Paris is not an ideal site from the U. S. standpoint because of De Gaulle, and its selection will be regarded in communist countries as a victory of sorts for Hanoi.

But Washington is overlooking all technicalities. The fact that the entire peace effort was initiated by the White House was not a victory for the anti-communist side.

So, if the United States is not beginning these initial talks from a posture of strength, the circumstance that it is willing to go more than half-way in getting a peace conference started is evidence that it is confident of its position.

In Southeast Vietnam, in the meantime, heavy and furious fighting continues. And it may be a long time before it ends.

Lesson from Columbia

Responsible protest is one thing. Youthful high spirits is another. The hooliganism at Columbia University had no connection with either.

It began as a demonstration against a new gymnasium and quickly became a riot, with several buildings for a time in the hands of the rioters and the president's office a shambles.

It should have been put down by prompt and decisive action. Instead, university officials acceded to the demands of the rioters and said they would halt construction of the gymnasium.

They gave in, but the rioters refused to leave the buildings they occupied.

Surrender only serves to make firmer the conviction in the minds of the lawless that violence pays off. And if there is one thing the U.S. doesn't need it is more violence.

Nothing New

Candidate Rockefeller's initial essay into foreign affairs, specifically Vietnam, offers little that hasn't been proposed or tried.

As of now President Johnson is trying for the "reversal" Mr. Rockefeller seeks by sending equipment for more Vietnamese troops while rejecting appeals for another large shipment of American troops.

Candidate Rockefeller also believes a summit council of Asian nations is needed to produce greater economic progress and political stability in the afflicted area.

Three such councils have been held without producing anything much more concrete than pledges of unity and promises of help that was forthcoming in very small measure.

As for the essentials of a just peace, Mr. Rockefeller would neither accept nor impose a solution dictated by force.

President Johnson and Secretary Rusk have said substantially the same thing.

Consumer Concern

Protection for the consumer has seldom been a fervent quest of Congress. Neither, it seems, has business generally gone to great pains to win the consumer's confidence.

New York's Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz told the National Businessmen's Council that "it is incumbent on business" to inform the consumer about its products. "Those who are defrauded," he warned, "frequently fail to discern between the honest and the dishonest businessman. Often they just stop buying."

And if the consumer stops buying, then business may as well close shop.

A computer that can pick up blocks and then stack them up has been developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, its reported. What's so important about that? The electronic gadgets are in their infancy, aren't they?

A Penryn, England, fisherman was fined after conviction of swiping a telegraph pole for use as a mast for his boat. No sail?

Some Britons, we read, now that it's been sold to Americans, have been pooh-poohing London Bridge as a second-rate relic. Don't know about that—but now it's truly second-hand.

Selmur Productions

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The international headquarters of the new "instant major" is an unpretentious office above the studio where Joey Bishop tapes his nightly show.

"Instant major" is a newly coined term for a film company that seemingly overnight has approached the status of major studio. The term has been applied to Selmur Productions, the feature-picture enterprise of American Broadcasting Companies. Within 18 months, the firm has organized a film program that rivals those of the long-established studios.

The man behind Selmur is Seligman, who runs the company from the Vine Street office. Seated behind a desk shaped like half a doughnut, he directs activities of film companies in Rome, London or the South Pacific. When he can't get things done on the phone, he hops a plane.

"I've made four trips to Europe since the company started, and 13 trips to New York," he reports, "and that's not much fun for a guy who hates to fly." But the other aspects of his job obviously bring him enjoyment. Seligman is a chunky, outgoing man whose enthusiasm is contagious, and he has infused the infant company with a special kind of drive. That has resulted in the following product:

Released—"Smashing Time," with Lynn Redgrave, Rita Tushingham; "A Minute to Pray, A Second to Die," with Alec Cord, Robert Ryan, both coproductions with Carlo Ponti.

Completed—"Candy," with Richard Burton, Marlon Brando, James Coburn, et al; "Charley," with Cliff Robertson, Claire Bloom; "Hell in the Pacific," with Lee Marvin, Toshio Mifune; "Cop-Out," with James Mason, Geraldine Chaplin; "The Rover," with Anthony Quinn, Rita Hayworth; "Diamonds for Breakfast," with Marcello Mastroianni; "The High Commissioner," with Rod Taylor, Christopher Plummer.

Filming—"The Midas Run," with Richard Green, Fred Astaire.

ABC leaped into feature filmmaking at about the same time CBS (Except for the backing of Bob Hope movies, NBC has not yet entered the field). The general feeling in the trade has been that the two networks were hoping to replenish the fast-depleting supply of features to show on television.

Gordon Stulberg, head of the CBS films operation, has denied this, declaring that features represented a promising field of diversification for the network.

"The No. 1 reason for going into features is that ABC has a major circuit of theaters (the Paramount group)," he explained. "Many of our top executives came up through the ranks as theater operators, and they were long aware of the need for more product."

"And of course, we are also a television network. The fact that the features we made would eventually have a release on TV provided an economic stopgap. That was the frosting on the cake, but not the major factor."

"Making features seemed like a sensible diversification for ABC. The management has looked into areas for expansion when the company has particular know-how. And since ABC owns theaters, a television network and record company, it was a sensible thing to make features."

And Seligman appeared to be a sensible choice to head the new operation. He brought with him the experience of running a theater chain, the Northern Division of Paramount in Ohio and Kentucky; a television station, KABC, Los Angeles; a television film operation, Selmur Productions, which produced "Combat," "Garrison's Gorillas," "General Hospital," "Shindig," etc.

He has two other aspects to aid in a feature film company. He knows stories, having authored two novels, "Honey on the Hill" and "Marquee." And he is an attorney. Harvard, cum laude; Nuremberg trials: State Department, and hence can understand the complicated deals demanded by movie talent nowadays.

Seligman feels that Selmur can offer special inducements to the top creators.

"The best talent has a going price, and they can get it with any company," he reasoned. "But I think we can make it more attractive for the talent by offering them more freedom. We're inclined to be daring and flexible; we have no doctrines, no lawyers of echelons for decision making. We'll take a flier on something that seems worth the chance."

When it is necessary to have all the skin tests done for an unknown allergy?

An allergic or highly sensitive person reacts to an offending substance by releasing histamine into the tissues and blood stream of the body. Almost any foreign substance can produce this histamine reaction. In general, allergens or offenders are classified in a number of ways. First there are contact materials like cosmetics, furs, feathers, woolens and metals. Next there are those substances which we eat and these may include any and every conceivable food. To make matters a little more difficult, an allergic reaction can occur following a combination of foods. Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SHAGGY DOG STORY number 62,774: A character entered a lunchroom and ordered a cup of coffee. When it was handed to him, he gathered up the salt and pepper receptacles on the table and poured a liberal helping of both into the cup. Then he reached for the catsup bottle, and added about two spoonfuls to the concoction. After testing same, he complained, "Something's very wrong. This stuff tastes horrible."

"No wonder," agreed the waitress. "There's nothing in that coffee now but salt, pepper, and catsup." "You're absolutely right," he nodded. "Pass the mustard."

Three compliments worth treasuring:

1. Carl Van Doren, describing the brilliant, deeply loved playwright, Moss Hart: "There's something about Moss that makes all the people in a room with him seem a little nicer than they really are."

2. Harry Hopkins, summarizing his friend, Robert Sherwood: "Everybody who meets up with Bob leaves him feeling happier and more confident than before he happened along."

3. A college senior, different than the kind getting all the publicity these days, describing his father: "He doesn't tell me what I should be doing and thinking all the time—but he wants to know what I'm up to and why. He's as interested in my point of view as he is in telling me his. He doesn't need words to make me know he loves me. I think he's wonderful."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is cystic fibrosis a hereditary disease? Is it still considered a dangerous condition?

Cystic fibrosis is a serious condition often noted in children at birth. For some strange and unknown reason some infants are born with a disturbance of the glands that produce mucus. The most serious aspect of the condition is that it involves the pancreas gland and others that are found in the lining of the bronchial tubes of the lung.

Cystic fibrosis is a congenital condition due to some birth abnormality. In addition this condition can be considered as being hereditary. This means that some traits and characteristics and physiological disturbances may be traced to the parents or the grandparents. More and more, cystic fibrosis is being studied for the possibility of some unusual changes in the genes and in the chromosomes.

Cystic fibrosis is sometimes known as mucoviscidiosis and undoubtedly occurs more frequently if both parents happen to have the glandular deficiency that is sometimes passed on to children.

Unfortunately there is no known way by which young people who are about to be married can be tested to find out if they will be the innocent transmitters of this disorder. Modern research is relentless in seeking the early recognition and persistent treatment of this dreaded disease in young children. Concentrated efforts now can sustain life in children who only a mere ten years ago could barely survive beyond their fifth or sixth birthdays.

When it is necessary to have all the skin tests done for an unknown allergy?

An allergic or highly sensitive person reacts to an offending substance by releasing histamine into the tissues and blood stream of the body. Almost any foreign substance can produce this histamine reaction. In general, allergens or offenders are classified in a number of ways. First there are contact materials like cosmetics, furs, feathers, woolens and metals. Next there are those substances which we eat and these may include any and every conceivable food. To make matters a little more difficult, an allergic reaction can occur following a combination of foods. A person may not be sensitive to ham or to cheese but may be allergic to the 129th day of 1968. There real causes even with the most diligent detecting.

Inhalents like pollen are most commonly responsible for the hay fever group. Drugs, vaccines, bacteria, insect bites, serum, may all cause reactions that vary from mild to severe, depending on the degree of sensitivity of the person.

Allergic reactions vary. Some people may develop giant hives or urticaria. Others may develop local swelling and some may have a severe asthmatic attack.

The decision to skin test a person depends on the severity of the allergic response. Sometimes it takes the patience of a saint to track down the cause in an effort to free the patient of these distressing symptoms.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 8, the 129th day of 1968. Here are 237 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, President Harry S. Truman went on the radio and announced the end of the war in Europe.

On this date:

In 1541, the Spanish explorer, Hernando De Soto, discovered the Mississippi River — at a point near the present city of Memphis, Tenn.

In 1779, Revolutionary forces under Gen. Casimir Pulaski fortified Charleston, S.C.

In 1854, the Atlantic Cable Co. was organized.

In 1902, a volcanic eruption on the island of Martinique left 40,000 persons dead.

In 1942, in the Pacific war, the Battle of the Coral Sea ended in a victory for the Allied nations.

In 1958, Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon were greeted with hostility and abuse in Lima, Peru during a good will tour of South America.

Ten years ago—The assassination of a pro-Communist newspaper editor in Beirut led to widespread rioting in Lebanon.

Five years ago — Dependents of Americans in Haiti were evacuated as tension grew between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The peculiar economics of magazine publishing is illustrated by the Saturday Evening Post's decision to cut its circulation in half in an attempt to make money.

This is a desperate move. In the past seven years the Post has been largely responsible for more than $50 million in losses by its parent, the Curtis Publishing Co.

To most people, though, it seems strange that the way to profits is sought in a reduction of circulation. But this isn't the first time the Post has gone in that direction.

In 1964, when its finances were equally distressing, the Post cut the number of issues in half, becoming a biweekly after many years as a weekly—more than 200 if you subscribe to the official Post history.

In another attempt to get itself on more solid financial footing the publication has been raising its price. As recently as 1959 the Post sold for 15 cents. It went to 20 cents that year, 25 in 1964 and 35 in 1966.

Now, with revenues continuing to fall far short of expenses, the most drastic cut all is being made. Subscriptions will be sliced from 6.4 million to about three or four million.

Why? Primarily because of growing expenses per copy. Production costs have been increasing. Labor and printing expenses were rising steadily recently. And new postal costs have taken a jump.

As a result, some magazines find themselves in a numbers game. As circulation rises so do costs. If ad revenue cannot keep pace with circulation, a point can be reached where the greater the circulation the greater the financial damage.

This situation actually occurred a few years ago when Coronet magazine—unrelated directly to the present publication of the same name—collapsed at the height of its circulation, at what appeared to be the peak of its popularity.

At the time, Coronet was selling low-cost subscriptions, hoping thereby to build a strong mass marketing vehicle for advertisers. But the ads didn't come in fast enough.

Other magazines also dropped out of the numbers game. Some folded and others simply gave up their frantic and costly attempts to show bigger subscription totals than their competitors.

The Post decision, however, is unique in scope. Nobody seems to recall another publication that cut its circulation in half. But isn't this also going to cut the price that advertisers are willing to pay for space.

Perhaps, but the Post obviously hopes that the cut won't be drastic. Instead of seeking the largest possible market, the Post intends to emphasize "quality," and quality circulation obtains premium ad rates.

Its intention now is to make the publication a more refined marketing tool for advertisers. It has decided to retreat from mass market competition and to aim its efforts at the wealthiest, best educated readers.

It is no secret that advertisers have been grumbling that much of the circulation on which magazine ad rates are based was worthless to them, that it was made up of readers who were not potential customers.

Talk Won't Solve Problems

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Can't anybody see it like it is?

Hubert Humphrey wants to build bridges to "mainland China," which, idealistically considered, is a very good idea. And Nelson Rockefeller, kicking off his discussion of issues for his Presidential bid, wants the U.S. to call a peace conference to deal with all of Southeast Asia, which is just what Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand suggested some time ago and what Lyndon Johnson would give his eye teeth to accomplish. There's no possible way of arguing against the Humphrey and Rockefeller proposals except to say that we have been fighting in Asia precisely because the other fellows don't want to build bridges and because our "allies" have failed in any number of attempts to deal with Southeast Asia on a regional basis. What was SEATO formed for in the first place?

Hubert Humphrey and Nelson Rockefeller are rational, peace-loving and fundamentally gentle people. But at the very moment when they were calling for "bridges" and regional peace parleys the Red Chinese were moving into the northeastern parts of Burma. The Red Chinese, so I am told by someone who has been on the scene, have been taking North Burma soil samples (a prerequisite for roadbuilding) and conducting aerial photography (needed for terrain mock-ups that are necessary for military planning). Our CIA knows all about this, and, presumably, so does Rockefeller's foreign policy adviser, Professor Henry A. Kissinger. Hubert Humphrey, who surely gets briefed on Red Chinese movements, must know it, too. The question is: how do you build "bridges" to or hold regional parleys with somebody that is trying to take part of a region over?

The Burmese government thought it had already succeeded in building bridges to Mao Tse-tung's China. The government of Ne Win had proclaimed "Burmese socialism" and had ostentatiously repudiated Peking. But the Red Chinese were unimpressed. They saw an opportunity to split the dissident North Burmese tribes from the main government at it is! Mao Tse-tung and the Brezhnev-Kosygin duo could have all the "bridges" in the world if they would only give reports, Mao's soldiers are occupying Burmese territory "peaceful coexistence" and that outflanks northern Thailand engage in "wars of liberation" India and all the nations of Southeast Asia.

This, if I may have the temerity to suggest to Rocky's expert, Henry Kissinger, is the sort of thing you come up against when you suggest that peace can be had if only a Red Chinese Mao and Brezhnev-Kosygin know that every four years the Communists have the U.S. over a barrel. In 1948, Mao was moving to take over mainland China. In 1952 we were in trouble in Korea, in 1956 there was the Suez crisis, in 1960 there was Laos, in 1964 Goldwater came a cropper when he mentioned "defoliation" in Vietnam. What will it be this year?

We need not expect miracles from a Presidential candidate whether his name be Humphrey, Rockefeller, McCarthy, Kennedy or Nixon. But we can at least require of them that they see it like it is.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Meeting in Paris

Initial elation over Hanoi's suggestion of Paris as a site to begin preliminary talks leading to a possible peace conference—and Washington's acceptance—has been tempered by realization that all that has been accomplished to date is that, after more than a month, a start has been made.

That it took six weeks to get this far may be taken as an indication of the rocky road ahead. Paris is not an ideal site from the U. S. standpoint because of De Gaulle, and its selection will be regarded in communist countries as a victory of sorts for Hanoi.

But Washington is overlooking all technicalities. The fact that the entire peace effort was initiated by the White House was not a victory for the anti-communist side.

So, if the United States is not beginning these initial talks from a posture of strength, the circumstance that it is willing to go more than halfway in getting a peace conference started is evidence that it is confident of its position.

In Southeast Vietnam, in the meantime, heavy and furious fighting continues. And it may be a long time before it ends.

Lesson from Columbia

Responsible protest is one thing. Youthful high spirits is another. The hooliganism at Columbia University had no connection with either.

It began as a demonstration against a new gymnasium and quickly became a riot, with several buildings for a time in the hands of the rioters and the president's office a shambles.

It should have been put down by prompt and decisive action. Instead, university officials acceded to the demands of the rioters and said they would halt construction of the gymnasium.

They gave in, but the rioters refused to leave the buildings they occupied.

Surrender only serves to make firmer the conviction in the minds of the lawless that violence pays off. And if there is one thing the U.S. doesn't need it is more violence.

Nothing New

Candidate Rockefeller's initial essay into foreign affairs, specifically Vietnam, offers little that hasn't been proposed or tried.

As of now President Johnson is trying for the "reversal" Mr. Rockefeller seeks by sending equipment for more Vietnamese troops while rejecting appeals for another large shipment of American troops.

Candidate Rockefeller also believes a summit council of Asian nations is needed to produce greater economic progress and political stability in the afflicted area.

Three such councils have been held without producing anything much more concrete than pledges of unity and promises of help that was forthcoming in very small measure.

As for the essentials of a just peace, Mr. Rockefeller would neither accept nor impose a solution dictated by force.

President Johnson and Secretary Rusk have said substantially the same thing.

Consumer Concern

Protection for the consumer has seldom been a fervent quest of Congress. Neither, it seems, has business generally gone to great pains to win the consumer's confidence.

New York's Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz told the National Businessmen's Council that "it is incumbent on business" to inform the consumer about its products. "Those who are defrauded," he warned, "frequently fail to discern between the honest and the dishonest businessman. Often they just stop buying."

And if the consumer stops buying, then business may as well close shop.

Try and Stop Me

SHAGGY DOG STORY number 62,774: A character entered a lunchroom and ordered a cup of coffee. When it was handed to him, he gathered up the salt and pepper receptacles on the table and poured a liberal helping of both into the cup. Then he reached for the catsup bottle, and added about two spoonfuls to the concoction. After tasting same, he complained, "Something's very wrong. This stuff tastes horrible."

"No wonder," agreed the waitress. "There's nothing in that coffee now but salt, pepper, and catsup." "You're absolutely right," he nodded. "Pass the mustard."

Three compliments worth treasuring:

1. Carl Van Doren, describing the brilliant, deeply loved playwright, Moss Hart: "There's something about Moss that makes all the people in a room with him seem a little nicer than they really are."

2. Harry Hopkins, summarizing his friend, Robert Sherwood: "Everybody who meets up with Bob leaves him feeling happier and more confident than before he happened along."

3. A college senior, different than the kind getting all the publicity these days, describing his father: "He doesn't tell me what I should be doing and thinking all the time—but he wants to know what I'm up to and why. He's as interested in my point of view as he is in telling me his. He doesn't need words to make me know he loves me. I think he's wonderful."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is cystic fibrosis a hereditary disease? Is it still considered a dangerous condition?

Cystic fibrosis is a serious condition often noted in children at birth. For some strange and unknown reason some infants are born with a disturbance of the glands that produce mucus. The most serious aspect of the condition is that it involves the pancreas gland and others that are found in the lining of the bronchial tubes of the lung.

Cystic fibrosis is a congenital condition due to some birth abnormality. In addition this condition can be considered as being hereditary. This means that some traits and characteristics and physiological disturbances may be traced to the parents or the grandparents.

More and more, cystic fibrosis is being studied for the possibility of some unusual changes in the genes and in the chromosomes.

Cystic fibrosis is sometimes known as mucoviscidosis and undoubtedly occurs more frequently if both parents happen to have the glandular deficiency that is sometimes passed on to children.

Unfortunately there is no known way by which young people who are about to be married can be tested to find out if they will be the innocent transmitters of this disorder.

Modern research is relentless in seeking the early recognition and persistent treatment of this dreaded disease in young children. Concentrated efforts now can sustain life in children who only a mere ten years ago could barely survive beyond their fifth or sixth birthdays.

When is it necessary to have all the skin tests done for an unknown allergy?

An allergic or highly sensitive person reacts to an offending substance by releasing histamine into the tissues and blood stream of the body. Almost any foreign substance can produce this histamine reaction. In general, allergens or offenders are classified in a number of ways. First there are contact materials like cosmetics, furs, feathers, woollens and metals. Next there are those substances which we eat and these may include any and every conceivable food. To make matters a little more difficult, an allergic reaction can occur following a combination of foods. A person may not be sensitive to ham or to cheese but may be allergic to the 129th day of 1968. There

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—The peculiar economics of magazine publishing is illustrated by the Saturday Evening Post's decision to cut its circulation in half in an attempt to make money.

This is a desperate move. In the past seven years the Post has been largely responsible for more than $50 million in losses by its parent, the Curtis Publishing Co.

To most people, though, it seems strange that the way to profits is sought in a reduction of circulation. But this isn't the first time the Post has gone in that direction.

In 1964, when its finances were equally distressing, the Post cut the number of issues in half, becoming a biweekly after many years as a weekly—more than 200 if you subscribe to the official Post history.

In another attempt to get itself on more solid financial footing the publication has been raising its price. As recently as 1959 the Post sold for 15 cents. It went to 20 cents that year, 25 in 1964 and 35 in 1966.

Now, with revenues continuing to fall far short of expenses, the most drastic cut of all is being made. Subscriptions will be sliced from 6.4 million to about three or four million.

Primarily because of growing expenses per copy. Production costs have been increasing. Labor and printing expenses were rising steadily recently. And now postal costs have taken a jump.

As a result, some magazines find themselves in a numbers game. As circulation rises so do costs. If ad revenue cannot keep pace with circulation, a point can be reached where the greater the circulation the greater the financial damage.

This situation actually occurred a few years ago when Coronet magazine—unrelated directly to the present publication of the same name—collapsed at the height of its circulation, at what appeared to be the peak of its popularity.

At the time, Coronet was selling low-cost subscriptions, hoping thereby to build a strong mass marketing vehicle for advertisers. But the ads didn't come in fast enough.

Other magazines also dropped out of the numbers game. Some folded and others simply gave up their frantic and costly attempts to show bigger subscription totals than their competitors.

The Post decision, however, is unique in scope. Nobody seems to recall another publication that cut its circulation in half. But isn't this also going to cut the price that advertisers are willing to pay for space.

Perhaps, but the Post obviously hopes that the cut won't be drastic. Instead of seeking the largest possible market, the Post intends to emphasize "quality," and quality circulation obtains premium ad rates.

Its intention now is to make the publication a more refined marketing tool for advertisers. It has decided to retreat from mass market competition and to aim its efforts at the wealthiest, best educated readers.

It is no secret that advertisers have been grumbling that much of the circulation on which magazine ad rates are based was worthless to them, that it was made up of readers who were not potential customers.

Talk Won't Solve Problems

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Can't anybody see it like it is?

Hubert Humphrey wants to build bridges to "mainland China," which, idealistically considered, is a very good idea. And Nelson Rockefeller, kicking off his discussion of issues for his Presidential bid, wants the U.S. to call a peace conference to deal with all of Southeast Asia, which is just what Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand suggested some time ago and what Lyndon Johnson would give his eye teeth to accomplish. There's no possible way of arguing against the Humphrey and Rockefeller proposals except to say that we have been fighting in Asia precisely because the other fellows don't want to build bridges and because our "allies" have failed in any number of attempts to deal with Southeast Asia on a regional basis. What was SEATO formed for in the first place?

Hubert Humphrey and Nelson Rockefeller are rational, peace-loving and fundamentally gentle people. But at the very moment when they were calling for "bridges" and regional peace parleys the Red Chinese were moving into the northeastern parts of Burma. The Red Chinese, so I am told by someone who has been on the scene, have been taking North Burma soil samples (a prerequisite for roadbuilding) and conducting aerial photography (needed for terrain mock-ups that are necessary for military planning). Our CIA knows all about this, and, presumably, so does Rockefeller's foreign policy adviser, Professor Henry A. Kissinger. Hubert Humphrey, who surely gets briefed on Red Chinese movements, must know it, too. The question is: how do you build "bridges" to or hold regional parleys with somebody that is trying to take part of a region over?

The Burmese government thought it had already succeeded in building bridges to Mao Tse-tung's China. The government of Ne Win had proclaimed "Burmese socialism" and had ostentatiously propitiated Peking. But the Red Chinese were unimpressed. They saw an opportunity to split the dissident North Burmese tribes from the main government at Rangoon, and proceeded to take advantage of it. And now, according to well-authenticated reports, Mao's soldiers are occupying Burmese territory and that outflanks northern Thailand and drives a wedge between India and all the nations of Southeast Asia.

This, if I may have the temerity to suggest to Rocky's expert, Henry Kissinger, is the sort of thing you come up against when you suggest that peace can be had if only a regional parley can be arranged. Can you see the Red Chinese, the Indians, the Burmese, the Thais, the Cambodians, the North and South Vietnamese, the Japanese, and the Filipinos sitting down with Russians and Americans to build a "just world order" in Southeast Asia?

It's nice work if you can get it, but when will our aspiring statesmen get over the old delusion of Adlai Stevenson that a rational outlining of a problem (in this case the problem of getting Asiatic people together) is equivalent to solving the problem? See it like it is, Neison and Hubert, see it like it is!

Cuba Bets On Cattle Insemination

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
SAN JOSE DE LAS LAJAS, Cuba (AP) — Cuba is betting thousands of dollars on breeding cattle by artificial insemination, and most experts agree the odds are in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's favor.

Although the real payoff is not expected to begin for another two years, some knowledgeable agriculturists already are suggesting the industry has the potential to rival sugar some day as the country's No. 1 foreign exchange earner.

The showcase for Castro's ambitious program is a spic-and-span bull ranch near this town 25 miles southeast of Havana.

The ranch is called Rosafe Signet after the first purebred bull in Castro's artificial insemination program, which began in 1962.

Here 123 thunderously big animals, many of them imported from Canada and England, snort and paw their immaculate pens while they wait to fill the test tubes.

A modern laboratory with French and Japanese equipment adjoins the bull pens where the big Shorthorns, Devons, Holsteins, Cebus o2 Cuban Criollos are kept.

The star of them all is a handsome Canadian Holstein with a gentle face and a long pedigree. His name is International Black Velvet and he cost the Cuban government $100,000. Castro keeps this 3,100-pound specimen of reproductive power in an air-conditioned room with other top breeders.

Technicians stop their work and school girls doing voluntary labor nearby look up when Black Velvet is led out to do his work.

The Rosafe Signet station is only for the extraction of semen. Injections into cows are made elsewhere. In Havana province, for example, there are 54 injection locations.

Dr. Omar Duverger of Rosafe Signet says more than 10,000 bulls are now incorporated in the artificial insemination program. About 2,000 of them are purebred, working at 13 other artificial insemination centers around the island. Since the program's inception, an estimated 85,000 cattle have calved through artificial insemination.

The injections are given by technicians who get practical training with cows at Cuba's slaughterhouses. By breeding the same bull to a cow and successive calves, Cubans produced a purebred after five generations. Holsteins are favored at the moment because of their badly needed milk production.

To protect their beef investment, Cubans give lavish care to the bulls. The pens are carefully disinfected and the animals get a special diet of grasses, ground beef bones and blood. Each bull rates a two-month vacation annually.

Concert band will play "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God", "Overture to Titus", Symphonic Dance No. 3, "Manhattan Beach March", selections from "West Side Story", theme from "Dr. Zhivago" and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

FORMER NAZI FREED—A former Nazi Foreign Ministry official, Franz Rademacher leaves a court building in Bamberg, Germany, a free man. He was sentenced to five years at hard labor in prison for helping kill more than 3,000 Jews and aiding in the deportation of another 80,000 to death camps. He was freed because he was sentenced in 1952 for the same crimes, and spent 18 months in investigatory custody before both trials.

we care

What is A Mother?

To her family, she's special.
She's understanding,
a banquet chef, a short order cook,
a fountain of love, a chauffeur,
warmth and security.
She's clean socks, starched dresses,
a mender of hurts.
She's scrubbed ears,
a tender nurse, a maid, a queen.
She deserves a day of honor and tribute.
She deserves the love of those she loves.
Yes, she's very, very special.
This Sunday, you'll tell your mother
how much you care.
We'd like to tell all mothers, "We Care, too."

Bangkok is a beautiful city with many traditions. Transportation in the country is mostly by train, although they now have small European cars. When the first car was seen in Bangkok the natives tried to feed it through the glass windows to make it move.

Mini skirts are worn by the younger set and they have adopted many American manners. The children are taught respect for parents and teachers and never revolt against authority.

During the business session members responded with their opinion of "What Is Happiness to Today's School Teacher?"

Miss Amy Miga, president, gave highlights of the state convention which she, Mrs. Charles Schieber and Mrs. James Scott attended May 3-5 at the Netherland-Hilton Hotel, Cincinnati. The theme of this session was "Life Without Values Has No Dimensions." Miss Miga joined other presidents in wearing a green corsage from home chapters. These corsages became a portion of the grants-in-aid scholarship fund.

Directed by Miss Miga, the following were installed to serve as officers for the next two years, beginning in July; Mrs. Dick Tootle, president; Mrs. Leora Sayre, 1st vice president; Mrs. George McGee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Grooms, recording secretary, and Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach, treasurer.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. John Dowler, and Mrs. Judd H. Dresbach.

Lausche Dumped for Gilligan by Ohio Democrats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John J. Gilligan, 47-year-old Cincinnati councilman, exploded the 40-year legend of U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche's political invincibility in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

The former congressman denied Lausche, 72, a third senatorial nomination with the unprecedented backing of both the State Democratic Committee and the million-member Ohio AFL-CIO.

Gilligan dumped Ohio's champion vote-getter with a campaign aimed at Lausche's age and what he called the senator's party indifference and his failure to understand the views of new voters.

The victory put Gilligan on the comeback trail after his 1966 defeat by U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., following a two-year term in the House of Representatives.

Gilligan faces his second big test in the Nov. 5 general election against Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, 51, runaway winner of the Republican senatorial nomination over two opponents, William L. White of Mount Vernon and Albert E. Payne of Springfield.

Complete unofficial returns from Ohio's 12,886 polling places gave Gilligan 560,980 votes to Lausche's 435,367. Saxbe rolled up 572,737 votes to 71,709 for White 52,600 for Payne.

Lausche's defeat was his first since 1946 when he lost to Republican Thomas J. Herbert after one two-year term in the statehouse. Lausche staged a comeback in 1948 and went on to become Ohio's only five-term governor.

In other key primary results, all three proposed amendments to the state constitution were approved, all current congressmen were renominated and most national convention delegates pledged to Ohio favorite sons Gov. James A. Rhodes and Sen. Stephen M. Young were elected.

The results in the 21st congressional district, in Cleveland, assured the state of sending its first Negro to Congress. The district vacated by Democratic Rep. Charles Vanik chose Louis Stokes, brother of Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, for the Democratic nomination and Charles P. Lucas on the Republican side.

Vanik switched to the 22nd district, and will face incumbent Republican Frances P. Bolton there in November's election.

When the State Democratic Committee turned its back on him for senator, Lausche repeated his denunciation of "bossism" but this time it lacked the telling effect of former campaigns.

Gilligan, who served six terms on Cincinnati's council before he sat in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1955 and 1956, was credited with voting 72 per cent of the time with the Johnson administration.

In his senatorial campaign, Gilligan's forces drove home Lausche's conservative record with billboards saying: "Vote for a REAL Democrat."

An AFL-CIO statement congratulating Gilligan called Lausche "a man refuted by his party leaders and his party rank and file voters."

Lausche, unreachable Tuesday night at his brother's home in suburban Cleveland, telegraphed congratulations to Gilligan.

The telegram, released in Cincinnati, said:

"I congratulate Mr. Gilligan for his victory. I wish him good luck in his future efforts. To him, I pass the baton of leadership hoping that he will carry it high, especially in the future interest and security of our country . . ."

Gilligan told campaigners that "every once in a while something good happens but the job is not yet over—it has hardly begun."

"I am eternally grateful to thousands of people . . . throughout Ohio. I'm happy to be associated with such a group when the democratic process is initiated to the utmost . . ."

"We are going to make an effort to bring together all elements of the Democratic party to wage the type of campaign we haven't had in Ohio in a long, long time."

Rep. Thomas L. Ashley of Waterville soundly defeated two opponents in the 9th District Democratic primary. In the 19th District Democratic race Rep. Michael Kirwan also defeated two opponents.

In the 7th District Republican primary contest Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr., won renomination over the challenge of H. Quinn Licklider. With 542 of 572 polling places in the district reporting Brown had amassed 36,791 votes to 2,744 for Licklider.

In the 4th District Republican race Rep. William M. McCulloch of Piqua trounced James M. Carpenter of Lima, who was making his second bid for Congress. Reports from 545 of the district's 627 polling places gave McCulloch 23,173 votes to 5,912 for Carpenter. McCulloch has no opposition in next fall's general election.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays won renomination in the 18th District Democratic race. Votes from 419 of the District's 636 polling places gave Hays 21,269 to 3,450 for Nick B. Karnick.

In the 20th District Democratic race Rep. Michael Feighan was winning by a small margin over challenger Michael Sweeney. With 350 of 380 polling places reporting Feighan had 26,426 votes to 24,167 for Sweeney.

In the Summit County 14th District Democratic race, Oliver Ocasek apparently won handily over Ted Chuparkoff who received 12,106 votes.

Sen. Brooke Wants Talk Of Violence Played Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's only Negro member has asked his Capitol Hill colleagues to play down talk of potential violence during the Poor People's campaign in Washington.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., spoke after Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., told the Senate Tuesday that his investigations subcommittee has evidence "two radical and very extremist leaders" plan to grab control of the campaign and turn it to rioting.

Despite a request from Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., McClellan refused to name the two. Brooke said Congress "should presume the march on Washington is going to be a peaceful, nonviolent demonstration. There is no basis for the assumption that this march on Washington will be violent."

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, successor to Dr. Martin Luther King as head of the sponsoring Southern Christian Leadership Conference, has vowed the protest will be nonviolent.

He also has said it might involve civil disobedience if Congress didn't respond to the campaign's pleas for better housing and education and jobs for the poor.

Estimates on the number of people involved in the campaign—to get under way next week in the capital—have ranged from several thousand to hundreds of thousands.

McClellan said his subcommittee learned of an Alabama meeting where statements were made that Abernathy "will be pushed aside and that two very radical and extremist leaders whom I will not name now, are to take his place and lead the demonstration and take over."

McClellan said his subcommittee has evidence the militant will seek to build a "shantytown" of the Capital Mall—between the Capital and the Washington Monument—whether or not they have a permit and "prevent senators and congressmen from reaching their offices by accosting them on the streets of Capitol Hill."

He said "they will place children in the forefront of demonstrations in order to gain publicity about 'police brutality' when police or any soldiers try to control crowds or halt law violations."

"They will obtain new clothing and other merchandise when the looting starts," McClellan said. "They will carry weapons" and "will incite demonstrators to violence and rioting."

He urged president Johnson to issue a firm, unequivocal warning to the marchers that violence will not be tolerated.

Committee meanwhile approved a measure designed to prevent demonstrators from living in tents or shacks in downtown Washington.

The measure would ban issues of permits for a camp-in on property near the capitol, White House or the Mall.

Lions Club Elects New President

Circleville Lions elected Doyle Spangler as their new president during a meeting Tuesday at Wardell's Party Home.

Spangler will succeed outgoing president Gerald Crites on July 1. Other officers elected include Ora. Hockman, first vice president; Charles Curlett, second vice president; Fred Howell, third vice president; Clarence Radcliff, secretary; Wes Edstrom, treasurer; Robin Jones, lion tamer; and Kenneth Crabtree, tallowriter.

Frank Wood Jr. was chosen to fill a vacancy in the director's panel and Gerald Sims was named to a full term. A ladies' night committee of Lloyd Wardell, Frank Woodward Jr. and Nolan Sims Jr. was named by President Crites.

Speaker for the evening was Wes Barton of the Circleville Police Department, who talked on the dangers of narcotics and habit forming drugs.

Pope To Attend Bogota Meeting

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will make a two or three-day visit to Columbia in August to attend the 38th International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota and to open a Latin American bishops conference in Medellin.

It will be the longest trip in the 70 year old pontiff's reign and the first by a pope to Latin America.

He made no mention of visiting other Latin American countries that have invited him but there was a possibility of airport stopovers.

His announcement to a crowd of pilgrims at his weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica brought cheers.

The trip will be Pope Paul's sixth journey abroad since he became head of the Roman Catholic Church in June 1963.

British Heart Patient Tired

LONDON (AP) — Frederick West who surprised doctors by walking only three days after his heart transplant operation, was reported "tired and resting" at London's National Heart Hospital today.

West, 45, Britain's first heart transplant patient, had been feeling well when he met his wife and heart transplant pioneer Dr. Christiana Barnard of South Africa in his hospital room Tuesday.

Barnard expressed surprise that West, operated on last Friday, had been out of bed so soon.

Philip Blaiberg, Barnard's surviving patient, walked around 12 days after his operation.

As far as I can ascertain, the boys and girls are getting a mighty raw deal and I feel I have rather first hand knowledge of some of the examples of injustice and misunderstanding, as the students under question are choir mates and friends of my daughter, Karen.

I have had two children graduate from the school and will see the last one finish this June, and although my children have no occasion to come up against the disciplinary measures of the present faculty, we have been very sympathetic to the ones unjustly penalized simply for trying in their small way to make an impossible situation better.

Although I realize we can't do anything to help the students now being punished for no reason other than the fact that they are there and see the trouble and have tried sincerely to help the faculty understand their problems, I want them to know that my family is behind them 100 per cent. Because if the time comes when only the middle aged and old people can be heard, then we are in trouble.

I, for one, feel that our teenagers, are pretty great people, if the truth were only heard for a change. It's time they are heard and listened to.

Discipline is one thing and very necessary, but down-right tyranny is completely uncalled for in this instance!

Everyone that knows the facts will admit that while Mr. Eberly had charge of the band and choir he was far from lenient (my three children were lucky to have been taught by him and respected his teaching). But he had the support and cooperation of the large majority of the music students and therefore an excellent band and choir was the result all the years he taught and the students respected and admired him for he could be talked to, which is no crime, as far as I can see.

As for the remark about the "bunch of spoiled kids" at our school, it deserves no comment, how many does he know personally?

I feel also, that Mr. Eberly's goal was to make music interesting (something which has been lacking since his illness). He succeeded, whether or not anyone has ever taken the time to tell him. This interest in music has been sadly lacking for some weeks now and only because the students lack the helpful guidance they have been fortunate to have had in the past.

Although I haven't had the writing experience other people seem to have I hope in some small way conveyed my feelings on this very controversial subject.

As for the remark about the "bunch of spoiled kids" at our school, it deserves no comment, how many does he know personally?

I feel also, that Mr. Eberly's goal was to make music interesting (something which has been lacking since his illness). He succeeded, whether or not anyone has ever taken the time to tell him. This interest in music has been sadly lacking for some weeks now and only because the students lack the helpful guidance they have been fortunate to have had in the past.

Although I haven't had the writing experience other people seem to have I hope in some small way conveyed my feelings on this very controversial subject.

Big yields demand the best!

For big yields that pay you more, your crop has to get off to a good start! Farm businessmen know this . . . and so does your Mobil crop specialist.

Mobil V-C Harvest King starter fertilizers are specially formulated to supply the right plant nutrients in the best available forms. Every pound is a profit-maker.

There's less labor at planting when you use high-analysis Harvest King fertilizer. Your fertilizer investment is wiser because you use less and you handle less. Yet you get more of the exact nutrients your young seedlings need.

Big yields demand the best. Start your crop off with Mobil V-C Harvest King in the planter.

"ROAST-RITE" POP-UP TEMPERATURE GAUGE!

"IS IT OVER-DONE?"
"IS IT TOO RARE?"

Even the expert cook will miss many times, when it comes to cooking a roast just right. Because there are just too many variables which affect the cooking process: faulty oven . . . inaccurate temperature controls . . . whether it's a gas or electric oven . . . even constant opening and closing the oven door to check. Under the old way of roasting you were never quite sure of "doneness". Now that Big Bear (and ONLY Big Bear) has brought you almost "automatic" roasting, guesswork is now gone forever. And, it doesn't cost you a cent extra! The secret is in the ingenious "Roast-Rite" POP-UP built-in meat temperature gauge, precisely positioned in your roast before you buy it. It is scientifically set to tell you, "I'm ready!", when the internal meat temperature reaches the point of perfect "done-ness". The fabulous Roast-Rite self-timing device pops up a little red signal when the meat is roasted to tender, juicy perfection. Much more exact than any human can guess! Try one of the Roast-Rite roasts listed here this week-end. Cooking instructions come on every package. And remember, not only will the meat you buy satisfy . . . but you'll serve it the way you planned . . . done just right!

Gambling Junkets on the Upswing

By EUGENE J. BROWN
DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — If gambling is an evil, thousands of North American tourists are willing to jet several thousand miles across the water to meet that evil head on among the Caribbean islands.

The gambling fraternity does have the choice of flying to Las Vegas, Nev., where you don't need an up-to-date smallpox vaccination but where you do meet the ever present Internal Revenue Service agents who may sidle up to you in the midst of a winning streak and whisper in your ear: "Don't forget to declare your winnings on your Form 1040."

And if you lose, what glamor is there losing in just another of the 50 states when you could say: "They took me in Curacao; they busted me in Antigua; look at my tropical tan."

But without junkets gambling would be a minor enterprise. Briefly the junket is a chartered plane or a group of tourists who pay $300 and get everything else free including the free chips.

A junket requires a junketeer or an agent, or a tour guide as he may be called. Its job is to develop tours for a particular Las Vegas casino. So successful is this system that the plane traffic at Las Vegas looks like Kennedy Airport.

The small islands of the Caribbean, short of income to meet the needs of their poverty-stricken population, have not been blind to the "Vegas junket syndrome."

With their tropical beaches, low-salaried help and cooperative governments, the gambling syndicates have set up shop on the islands by simply taking over the junket format.

In a manner these gambling junkets have an "almost-free" hooker attached. For instance, if a person wanted to go to Antigua or practically any other island in the Caribbean for the purpose of trying his luck against the casino odds, his fare plus four or five days at a luxurious hotel including most of the extras would be $500. He could take his wife along too (and many do) for only $225 extra. And in addition he would receive $500 free in nonnegotiable gambling chips.

The term "nonnegotiable" designates the chips that are to be used for gambling only and can't be cashed immediately upon arrival at your destination.

These special chips are "seed" to start your streak of luck. It would be indeed a rare bird who failed to succumb to the gaming tables when he or she is sure that he can win on his free chips. So sure is the house that you will gamble and lose, that if you show a sincere desire to play the games, they will even give you the cash for your free chips. All you've got to do is play a little and pray a lot.

Gambling with free "junket" chips is much the same as eating peanuts. Whoever stopped at one peanut. There is obviously something wrong with the logic of those who go on a gambling junket.

For the casino to give you $500 of free chips which reimburses you for the $500 junket expenses, they must expect you to lose. To break even the house must figure on your losing your $500 free chip money plus an average of $500 in hard cash. Thus the average player is out his $500 tour expense plus $500 in cash.

The favorite casino gambling games seem to be of the standard American variety: blackjack or 21, roulette and dice.

Conservatives Gain In British Voting
GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — The Scottish Nationalist party scored sweeping gains in results today from Scottish local elections, ending the Labor party's control of the city councils in Glasgow, Aberdeen and Paisley.

A Nationalist spokesman claimed 86 seats on municipal councils and predicted a total of more than 100 when all results from Tuesday's vote are in.

Local elections are taking place all this week in Britain, with the Conservatives gaining steadily so far as expected. The biggest vote comes Thursday

Ghosts Invited To June Wedding
ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Sir John Forbes, the "friendly ghost" at 17th century Craigievar Castle, has been invited to a wedding in the castle where he lived 300 years ago.

Kristine Forbes-Sempill, 24 year-old daughter of the ruler of Craigievar, Lady Sempill, will be married June 1 in the castle to ohn Cable, 2, an accountant.

when London and most of England and Wales vote.

The formal invitation to Sir John rests on the mantelpiece in the castle hall.

"The invitation is to Red Sir John and the other castle ghosts to attend the wedding," Lady Sempill said. "I saw one of the ghosts a few years ago. There are 8 or 10 of them." Red Sir John got his name from his bright red hair.

The guest list totals 150—not counting the ghosts.

Morton Neipp To Leave Post
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Morton Neipp, who led the fight to get the state Democratic party to endorse John J. Gilligan, disclosed Tuesday he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as state party chairman. His retirement had been rumored.

Neipp revealed his decision hours before Gilligan won the U.S. Senate nomination over incumbent Sen. Frank J. Lausche.

Columbia U Says Papers Were Taken

Demand Kirk's Documents Back From Protesters
NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has threatened legal and disciplinary action against anyone who repeats or publishes the contents of documents it says were stolen from the president's office in the recent student uprising.

A telegram signed by President Grayson Kirk and David B. Truman, university vice president and provost, was delivered Tuesday night to leaders of the student strike. It demanded immediate return of the documents.

Cries of "tear it up!" greeted the reading of the telegram at an assembly of about 600 students. During the meeting papers purporting to be copies of Kirk's documents were circulated.

The strikers continued their activities all over the Ivy League campus Tuesday. Pickets forced classes to meet in off-campus apartments, on the tree-shaded lawns and in at least one nearby bar.

Red balloons with the word "Strike" blossomed over the upper Manhattan campus as the activists continued to protest last week's removal by 1,000 police of students from five occupied buildings.

A member fact-finding committee opened an inquiry into the causes of the student unrest which has shaken the campus since April 23 but at least two prime witnesses failed to appear.

Representatives of the radical Students for a Democratic Society and the Student Afro-American Society did not respond to the invitations of panel chairman Archibald Cox, a former U.S. solicitor general.

Julie Andrews Gets Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Film star Julie Andrews won an uncontested divorce Tuesday from her childhood sweetheart, British designer Tony Walton, after nine years of marriage.

Miss Andrews, star of "Mary Poppins" and "The Sound of Music," testified that their careers came between them. She has been filming her movie roles here while he stayed in their native land.

They had been officially separated since October 1966. The decree was granted on grounds of cruelty and Miss Andrews waived alimony.

Foreigners See Long Task Ahead for U.S. on Vietnam

LONDON (AP) — While applauding the Hanoi-Washington agreement to open Vietnam talks in Paris, some foreign commentators say it is too early for optimism and an "appalling, intractable task of peacemaking" lies ahead.

"It is hard to recall any negotiation in which the prospects for a settled peace seemed, at least at the outset, to be more remote, or the respective concessions harder to envisage," said the Sunday Times of London.

"Optimism for a successful outcome to the negotiations is still unwarranted," said the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri.

"Once the two sides are at the same table the pressure of public opinion at home will tend to keep them there. No amount of public pressure, however, can diminish the appallingly intractable task of peacemaking that lies ahead," said the British newspaper Guardian.

"The first task," the Guardian said, "will be to stop what has become an international war between America and North Vietnam. The second, and harder task, will be to prevent the civil war continuing" between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong.

"The United States has obligations now to South Vietnam, obligations to those who would be the innocent victims of an unabated civil war as well as obligations to the South Vietnamese government," the paper added.

An Associated Press sampling of foreign opinion showed a number of commentators calling for a cease-fire during the talks, but general pessimism about chances for a halt to the fighting.

"Since the talks in Paris are expected to be protracted and difficult, there might be further intensification of military operations in South Vietnam," said the Japan Times.

It added: "We must accept the cold fact that neither side can afford to lose its military foothold unless in a highly unlikely event firm guarantees can be quickly reached on the negotiating table."

Yomiuri called on the United States to halt completely the bombing of North Vietnam to enhance chances for peace.

"As the mightiest nation in the world, the United States can afford to show greater tolerance and such an initiative would make it easier for Hanoi to take a more flexible attitude in the sensitive negotiations," Yomuri said.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

One-Sided Love Doesn't Last Long

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a 29-year-old man for the last eight months. I am 22. He's nice looking, well-mannered and can afford to show a girl a good time. He has bought me some rather expensive gifts, a stereo for Christmas and a color TV for my birthday. He tried to give me a diamond for St. Valentine's day, but I wouldn't accept it.

I just don't love him and he knows it, but he says he's desperately in love with me. I never tried to lead him on. I told him from the beginning that I didn't love him and didn't think I ever could. I've even asked him to quit calling me, but he calls anyway, and if I have nothing better to do, I go out with him.

I have acted bored in his company, and been rude to him, but he can't be discouraged. Any suggestions?

TOO HONEST

DEAR TOO: If you really don't see any future with this man, don't go out with him again because the more you see of him, and the more you accept from him, the harder it will be to get rid of him. He plans to "wear you down." And if he succeeds, you'll both be sorry. A one-sided "love" doesn't last long.

DEAR ABBY: I am 31, have been self-supporting since I was 18, and well-groomed and have lots of friends. But in spite of my jolly disposition and happy smile, I am very unhappy. You see, I am one of those big boned women who could diet herself down to nothing, but I would still be big.

I know I am fat, but I am naturally so large that if I were to lose any weight it would show in my face and neck, and I would rather be a little on the plump side than haggard and wrinkled.

This letter is a plea for more consideration on the part of those who make fat women the butt of their jokes. We have feelings, too, and although we are good sports on the surface, we are crying on the inside. I want love and companionship like any other normal woman, but it's hopeless. Men don't want fat women. Yet, no woman ever turned a man down because he was fat.

Don't tell me to go on a diet. No matter how much weight I lost, I would still be BIG, AND HATING IT!

DEAR BIG: Alas, all men (and women) were not created equal. And that goes for the oversized as well as the undersized. Don't try to rationalize your excess poundage by saying you "need" it to go with your "big-boned" frame. A "big-boned" woman only accentuates her size by being fat as well.

Get a sensible diet from a doctor and stick with it. Plenty of "big" women are enjoying the love and companionship of big men. And some "little" men have shown their true "bigness" by marrying a bigger woman.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Lonely in Atlanta," there is an answer to loneliness. I know, because four years ago I was in the same boat. I sat around feeling sorry for myself. I did my share of grumbling too, then it dawned on me, nobody cared to be around a dripping faucet. So, I dried my tears, washed my hair, polished my nails, dressed in my prettiest dress and went out into the world to see who needed me.

Well, to make a long story short, there were plenty of less fortunate people than I, who needed ME. First I contacted the local Red Cross to find what could be done and what I was qualified to do. I then became interested in Hospital Volunteers Service, now, I am so busy in one of the local hospitals, I haven't needed a handkerchief in months.

American Men Appear Dull According to Hairdresser

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Bad haircuts and ill-fitting clothes make American men pretty dull-looking fellows, says English hairdresser, Vidal Sassoon.

Sassoon is famous for his geometrical haircuts, first introduced to American women five years ago.

VIDAL SASSOON

He bemoans that American men are saddled to three-button suits and the worst haircuts in the world as their women grow more youthful and more fashion conscious.

Sassoon's ambition is to open a "salon for gents" where he would see that their hair is cut well and that they get good advice about clothes. They would feel smarter, look younger and generally feel better expressing their own personalities, he says.

Many important men tip toe to Sassoon's New York salon in the evening after the ladies' have gone home. They get haircuts to set them apart from other men; they meet on Madison Avenue who have a boring sameness about them.

Sassoon is far more youthful looking than his 40 years. He attributes it to his hair cut — close and "chunky" all over and to his suits which he designs with an English tailor.

"You don't need a Chinese collar to be different," he advises men. The suit he was wearing had a comfortable form-fitting jacket with floppy half-lapels.

"Men dress better in California than in New York," he points out. "There's an elegant way of dressing in casual fashion instead of climbing into a uniform like the three-button suit."

He doesn't know how he could possibly begin the man's grooming operation right now, even though he is thinking seriously about it, abetted by husbands of his clients. His interest right now is centered on opening new women's salons in California.

He has just returned from a successful tour of the United States. In Tulsa, 1300 Oklahoma hairdressers came to see his show that illustrated five years of hair fashions as an evolution from that first, sensational short geometrical haircut that took the fashion world by surprise.

But it isn't his only claim to fame. At his salon in New York, young slim male hairdressers, mainly English, scoot about in lively fashion cutting and setting the shortest to longest locks on women of various ages, but always the blunt cut rather than the razor cut which he says ruins hair.

Straight hair dried with a hand drier and molded into shape with a brush emerges glossy and tamed to swish hither and yon, to be caught by the wind, to be tousled or ruffled but always to spring back to its shape that fans out at the flip of a head.

He has three salons and schools in England but is expecting to spend much of his time in the United States where he and his wife, actress Beverly Adams, expect to have their first child this summer. They have just rented an apartment in New York.

Men would get the same blunt cut that he gives women — no patchwork effects that razoring creates, he says.

He doesn't introduce styles as such, he explains and wouldn't do that for men, either. A basic haircut leads to another style. For example, an Apache style for women is merely his short haircut with a curly effect around the perimeter, and there are hairlines in between such as his Greek goddess hairdo. The apache style goes well with high cheekbones, he says. He likes long hair, providing it is cut in the chunky blunt cut.

Sassoon began his hair dressing career at 14. He was a shampooer in those early years. At 19, he went off to see the world for two years, living on a kibbutz in Israel for a year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the years the television networks have learned their lessons well, and today can handle any election efficiently.

But during the preliminaries to the presidential campaigns, they all seem to handle the state primaries like practice sessions.

The Tuesday Indiana primary was a case in point. It seemed to turn out pretty much the way the advance predictions indicated. But all three networks had their sights on the state balloting and their experts put the totals under the microscope.

NBC pre-empted the early evening "Jerry Lewis Show" for an hour-long special program. It made the voting seem very important, but it was unable to come up with anything much that was fresh and exciting beyond the changing totals as the votes were counted.

CBS came along an hour or so later with a shorter wrapup of the primary battle that covered the same ground but in a more economical style. It devoted the second half of its Tuesday night news hour to a once-over-lightly treatment of the unfortunate plight of many American Indians. The Indians subject deserved a deeper treatment, but the show consisted of material salvaged from a daytime news feature show.

ABC handled the election in a late evening program when the results were established.

That network, which seems to be having problems finding its niche in news coverage, is about to overhaul—again—its early evening news show. On May 27 Frank Reynolds will take over the principal role in the program.

Bob Young, who replaced Peter Jennings at the first of the year, will be reassigned to the network's New York news bureau. Reynolds moves into the network's top news spot after three years as its White House correspondent.

CBS, which spent a reported $250,000 on a special program showing Vladimir Horowitz in piano recital at Carnegie Hall last winter, plans to broadcast the show next Sept. 2.

Disaster Strikes Couple Again

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Disaster has struck again at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown of Toledo.

Their home was wrecked by a tornado three years ago, causing an estimated $30,000 damage Monday night, fire swept the rebuilt house with damage again estimated at $30,000.

Captured Boy Typical of Viet Red Recruits

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP) — The 15-year-old boy lay tucked like an infant in the hospital bed, a smiling kid with wondering eyes whose medical tag inconspicuously read "prisoner of war."

Military accounts of tough North Vietnamese soldiers and grueling jungle marches somehow seemed ridiculously remote from the smooth-cheeked boy with the bandage on his right arm.

In the past three months, however, Nguyen Van Qui was uprooted from his North Vietnamese village, hastily trained to fight and marched 1,000 miles to a war he understands hardly at all.

American intelligence men say the youngster is typical of replacements Hanoi is feeding into the Viet Cong, which already is composed mainly of Northerners.

In the hospital of the U.S. 9th Division at Dong Tam, young soldier Qui is a minor celebrity. Generals and colonels ask about his progress. His nominal guards keep him well supplied with the menthol cigarettes for which he acquired a taste.

"I am lucky," the young man said through an interpreter. "If I had not been captured by the Americans I would surely have lost my arm."

An American bullet slashed down the arm and lodged in his wrist. Operations have restored some movement in Qui's fingers and doctors are confident the arm will soon be almost normal.

Until he was captured, Qui had never seen an American. Until he was drafted last January he had never even seen a foreigner, never been outside his district and knew only vaguely that a war was going on.

He recalls that on Jan. 15 of this year the soldiers came to his village of An Thanh, about 50 miles below Hanoi.

"My mother cried and tried to stop them," he said. "But they said that 15-year-olds now have to serve."

A bemused young "chien sip," or ordinary soldier, Qui got a month's training and political indoctrination and after a short leave started for Nam Dinh by truck on Feb. 13.

The indoctrination left little marks on the 15-year-old peasant boy with only five years' schooling and a hankering to be a carpenter. He knew that Ho Chi Minh was the "leader" of North Vietnam but the name of Vo Nguyen Giap, the Hanoi military boss, means nothing to him.

He does recall most vividly that he was told the cities of South Vietnam were under Viet Cong control and the people would welcome him.

"They lied to me," he shrugged.

He doesn't regard his 1,000-mile march as any great hardship. He was never bombed, though nearby units were. He recalls marching through Cambodia where the people were kind and young girls served as their guides.

Once in South Vietnam, however, things changed. He was assigned to the 261st Main Force Battalion which was always on the move.

When the first battle came and he was wounded, he was left behind, which made him angry. Now he says he is glad he was left behind.

After more than two weeks in the American hospital, Qui claims to like the Americans and says he is willing to fight for South Vietnam.

That, however, is put down by his interrogators as just "prisoner talks."

"He's just a kid," said a ranking American officer. "When he gets well he will go into the prisoner cages with the hardened types. You know what will happen then."

Gen. Hostetler Dies at Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maj. Gen. Erwin C. Hostetler, who retired as Ohio adjutant general last month, died Tuesday night at his home here. He was 64.

Hostetler was released only last week from Riverside Hospital after undergoing abdominal operations.

Hostetler, whose Army career spanned more than 40 years, became adjutant general in January 1963.

He was presented the Army's Distinguished Service Medal on April 23.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said, "Ohio has lost a fine citizen and a gallant soldier."

Gasco Revue Scheduled in Columbus

The 27th annual Gaslite Revue concert and variety show will be held May 17, at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, Columbus. The Revue will be open to the public with no charge for admission.

Members of the Gas Company Chorus who perform in the annual show following months of rehearsals and preparations are all employees of Columbia Gas of Ohio, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Columbia Gas System Service Corp.

A feature of this year's Revue will be a colorful globe-trotting section under an "Up, Up and Away" theme, with solos, sketches and choral numbers. Patriotic and religious music also will be highlighted.

Chet Long, popular central Ohio newscaster, will be master of ceremonies. E. Richard Shoup, assistant professor of music education at Capital University, is director of the Gaslite Revue.

OCC Convention Slated in Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The 20th annual convention of the Ohio Conservation Congress will be held at the Onesto Hotel here May 24, 25 and 26, the organization announced Tuesday.

The congress is an organization devoted to promotion of conservation and the best use of natural resources.

THAT FIRST STEP—WHERE?—What direction will the talks take when representatives from the United States and North Vietnam meet soon in Paris? Administration officials, led by President Johnson, have sounded a "cautionary note." The talking rests in the hands of Ambassador at Large W. Averell Harriman (top right) and presidential troubleshooter Cyrus Vance (bottom right) for the U.S. and (middle) Xuan Thuy, 56, former foreign minister, for North Vietnam. Thuy is regarded as a skillful negotiator.

Members of the Gas Company Chorus who perform in the annual show following months of rehearsals and preparations are all employees of Columbia Gas of Ohio, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Columbia Gas System Service Corp.

A feature of this year's Revue will be a colorful globe-trotting section under an "Up, Up and Away" theme, with solos, sketches and choral numbers. Patriotic and religious music also will be highlighted.

Chet Long, popular central Ohio newscaster, will be master of ceremonies. E. Richard Shoup, assistant professor of music education at Capital University, is director of the Gaslite Revue.

Ousted Navy Commander Claims Mutiny on Vessel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, stripped of a ship's command after junior officers' complaints, has told a special congressional committee there was mutiny on the vessel.

Arnheiter, a 42-year-old career Navy officer, was relieved as captain of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 after the Navy ruled he showed "a serious lack of judgment" and "knowingly and deliberately committed many derelictions."

Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who lost command of the battleship New Jersey after interceding with Defense Department authorities on Arnheiter's behalf, is to testify today.

Appearing Tuesday before a committee called together by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who vows to get the case "before Congress or to the White House if needs be"—Arnheiter said that when he assumed command of the Vance, "complete bedlam" existed.

He contended morale was low, the vessel was rusty and infested with cockroaches "and I began to wonder what I had inherited."

He testified throughout the first day of the scheduled three day hearing, saying he wanted his "day in court under proper naval proceedings" and that this had been denied him. His wife sat two rows behind him in the crowded committee room.

There are no official Navy witnesses at the hearing. Resnick said the Navy has refused to cooperate or participate in the inquiry.

Arnheiter, a decorated Naval Academy graduate with seven years of sea duty aboard destroyers, said his intention aboard the Vance was to "take a lax ship and make it into a fighting ship."

Denying any improper conduct, he said, "My major intent was ... to take this ship into a war zone with a shipshape crew who would be proud of the ship and of whom the U.S. Navy could be proud."

Arnheiter said he met resistance in his efforts.

"Did you feel there was actual mutiny aboard the Vance?" attorney Marvin Lewis asked Arnheiter.

"Yes," Arnheiter replied, puffing on a cigar.

He said he filed charges alleging mutiny over the objections of the commander of the Pacific destroyer force.

Arnheiter now is shore-based near San Francisco and Alexander has a desk job in Boston.

Safety Record At DuPont Is Lauded

The employees at the local DuPont Plant received recognition for their outstanding safety performance during 1967 from three nationally recognized authorities.

The National Safety Council's award of Merit presented for over 3½ million safe exposure hours was given to the plant by Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council. The local Plant placed 17th in the nation as compared to all other industrial chemical plants.

The Manufacturing Chemists' Association awarded their Certificate of Achievement for having worked through the entire year of 1967 without experiencing a disabling injury.

The Company's Board of Directors safety award won for the fifth time as of April 20, 1968 because of the continuing safety efforts of the local plant employees which now have accumulated nearly two years of injury-free performance and over 4.2 million safe hours.

Oberlin Bans Government On Campus

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Government agencies, universities and corporations were banned Tuesday from using Oberlin College facilities for placement interviews with students.

College President Robert K. Carr said opposition by the Student Senate to the use of campus facilities by the armed forces had triggered the suspension.

"I have taken this step very reluctantly," Carr added, "because, in my judgment, it involves an erosion, however slight, of the open campus principle and practice that ought to prevail at a college like Oberlin."

He said the policy of permitting outside organizations to use campus facilities was being suspended indefinitely.

"The suspension will be in effect until an acceptable solution is found to a continuing and serious disagreement within the college community about the interviewing procedure," the 60-year-old president added.

Carr banned military recruiters from the campus last February after a student, John G. Dove, 21, of Oak Park, Ill., was sent a delinquency notice by his draft board for taking part in a demonstration at the college against a Navy recruiter.

Dove's delinquency notice was withdrawn later, and the ban was lifted.

Cheyney College Protest To End

CHEYNEY, Pa. (AP) — Cheyney State College students said they were ready to surrender today the school's administration building as soon as state investigators arrive for hearings on their grievances.

An end to the student demonstration was indicated Tuesday night after David H. Kurtzman, state superintendent of public instruction, had met most of the day with committees of the protesting students, of the faculty and of parents.

AFL-CIO May Kick Out UAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union, currently renewing threats to quit the 14-million-member AFL-CIO, faces the possibility of being kicked out next week for nonpayment of dues.

The Auto Workers, issuing new attacks on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership from its convention in Atlantic City, will be three months and about $250,000 behind in dues May 15 and face automatic expulsion, informed sources said.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting next week, may take up the matter and some sources predict a majority of its members may be angered enough to oust Reuther's union if it doesn't pay up.

Sources say AFL-CIO leaders are miffed at Reuther's announcement the Auto Workers may put its per capita AFL-CIO dues in escrow pending settlement of its demands for internal reform of the federation.

The Auto Workers, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, pays about $1 million a year into its treasury.

This is the second time in its long feud with the AFL-CIO that the Auto Workers has withheld dues almost up to the suspension deadline.

Meany previously ignored most of Reuther's actions. But there are new elements in the deepening split between the two men who founded the AFL-CIO 13 years ago by merging Meany's American Federation of Labor with the Reuther-led Congress of Industrial Organizations.

They are also now moving apart on presidential politics and the impending Poor People's Campaign in the nation's capital.

Meany, 73, is throwing the AFL-CIO's support behind Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The 60-year-old Reuther, re-elected Tuesday to a 12th term as UAW president, is officially keeping the Auto Workers neutral in the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he is reliably reported leaning toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Reuther has endorsed the Poor People's Campaign. Meany, while taking no official position, is reportedly cool to the idea of thousands of marchers besieging government buildings in Washington.

In his latest slap at Meany's leadership, Reuther charged at the Auto Workers convention that the AFL-CIO is "ruled by the dead hand of the past."

Replied Meany: The American trade union movement today is in the best condition in

7 Witnesses Testify Today In Grid Gambling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven witnesses, including a convicted embezzler and a mystery woman in miniskirt, testified Tuesday as a federal grand jury opened a gambling investigation that has involved pro football.

Fran O'Brien, veteran tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and Ralph Gugliemi, former quarterback for the Washington Redskins, remained on the waiting list of witnesses subpoenaed to testify in the probe in federal court in suburban Alexandria, Va.

Court sources have said witnesses have been called merely to give information and there is no hint of any scandal in the National Football League. The investigation evidently grew out of two New Year's Day raids on alleged football pools on college bowl games.

With a total of 53 persons under subpoena, testimony was expected to continue at least three days.

its entire history."

Meany cites a 14 per cent growth of membership in AFL-CIO unions the past three years, record-high wages and a powerful voice in national politics and legislation as proof of labor's growing strength.

Reuther says the growth doesn't match the rise in employment—and that millions of white-collar workers, farm laborers and others aren't being organized into unions fast enough.

Ex-Employee Sues Armco

CINCINNATI (AP) — A discharged Armco Steel Corp. worker has filed suit in U.S. District Court here for damages, asking legal protection of his religious belief that he should not work on Saturdays.

The suit, filed by McClelland C. Smith of Middletown, seeks $9,321 from Armco in back wages and asks for an injunction to prevent Armco from interfering with his civil rights.

Smith said he is a member of the Radio Church of God which holds the belief the sabbath extends from sundown Friday until sundown Saturday and that no labor should be performed during that period.

He said he was discharged on Feb. 28, 1967 after having been employed by Armco since 1951. The dismissal, he claimed, was because his religious beliefs prevented him from working Saturdays.

Smith said he took the case to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission which did not act. He said he then took the case to the Equal Opportunity Commission which said there was reasonable cause to think Smith's civil rights had been violated.

Elected Directors

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Dan S. Forchione of Canton, Ohio, and Walter Murphy of Toledo were elected Tuesday as regional directors of the United Auto Workers Union.

Bobby's Got Too Many Kids To Be Elected, Man Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — An expert on natural resources and population trends declared today a man with 10 children has the wrong image to be president of the United States.

And that, said William Vogt, a former director of the Planned Parenthood Federation, is why he probably won't vote for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., if the Democrats nominate him to succeed Lyndon Johnson.

Vogt told a reporter that Kennedy's election "would set back the attempt to achieve a rational population policy for years."

Vogt, author of "Road to Survival" and other works on conservation of resources and world population control, asked: "How could the United States, presided over by a man with 10 or more children, go to the exploding populations of the world and urge a cut in their birth rate."

"The last thing this country needs is more people. And the next to last, in my opinion, is a president of the United States who sets such a bad example," Vogt earlier stated his views in a letter printed in the Baltimore Evening Sun.

A spokesman for the Planned

Parenthood Federation tut-tutted Vogt's criticism.

"One of our most cherished tenets is that it's up to the parents to decide how many children they should have—this is the heritage of free people," the spokesman said. And at any rate, the spokesman added, voluntary birth control is working well in the United States despite such families as the Bobby Kennedys. In 1967 the birth rate dropped to a record low of 17.9 per 1,000 population, compared with a previous low of 18.4 during the depression of the 1930s.

Vogt, who headed the federation from 1951 to 1961, said its members seem to think "it's all right for the rich to have so many kids because the rich can give their children so many advantages." He disagrees.

For one thing, Vogt said, rich people with large families add more than their share to the nation's air and water pollution, housing shortage and other environmental problems.

"A rich child is likely to place more of a strain on the environment simply because he has more money to spend," Vogt explained.

OLDEST HUMAN REMAINS ever found in the Western Hemisphere are held up for inspection in Washington. This is part of a charred and broken skull, found back in 1965 in Southeastern Washington State, and believed to be between 11,000 and 13,000 years old. Other objects recently found at the site helped to determine the time.

Six Circleville Gridders Set Sights on College

Six members of the Circleville High School South Central Ohio League championship football team have signed letters of intent to attend colleges. All plan to play football.

Four of the six have received scholarships. One has been appointed to the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colorado, and one has enrolled at Whittenburg at the invitation of the football staff there although the school does not grant scholarships unless there is financial need.

Dick Thornton and Craig Lambert have both received athletic scholarships at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. Rod Sines has an athletic scholarship at Otterbein College, Westerville.

Bill Gates will go to Centerville Community College, Centerville, Ia., where he has received a football scholarship.

BOB Tootle has received an Air Force Academy appointment, which although is not an athletic grant came because of his football ability and scholastic achievement.

Steve Carroll will attend Whittenburg University, Springfield.

Carroll is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, 939 Circle Drive. He lettered two years in football at Circleville and was an All-South Central Ohio League guard.

Carrying a 3.74 grade average,

Carroll was a candidate for the SCO League scholar-athlete award. He is a member of the National Honor Society, English Merit Society, Stooze Club and the play committee.

A college prep major in high school, Carroll plans to major in mathematics at Whittenburg. Tootle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick T. Tootle, Route 2. He quarterbacked the Tigers to two consecutive South Central Ohio League championships.

HE was a member of the basketball team for three years. An honor graduate of Circleville High School, Bob is a member of National Honor Society and the English Merit Society. He was president of the junior class, vice president of the senior class and president of the Stooze Club.

In addition to his school activities, Tootle was a delegate to Buckeye Boys State, a delegate to Farm Bureau Youth Leadership Conference at Otterbein College, the county winner in the Circleville BPO Elks Youth Leadership contest.

He is a member of Circleville Methodist Church and a five year member of 4-H Club in Wayne Twp.

Gates is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates, 290 Lewis Road. He pursued a general course in high school and plans to major in physical education at Centerville College.

He lettered two years in football as a linebacker and end. He received All-SCO League, All-Central District and honorable mention All-Ohio honors.

In addition to football, Gates competed in wrestling and track in high school. He is a member of the Stooze Club and was in the senior class play.

AN interesting sidelight of his choice of schools is that Centerville will be playing Northeastern A&M of Oklahoma in its first game. Another Tiger griddier, Tom Fletcher, is attending A&M and earned a starting berth at tackle as a freshman.

Sines is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sines, 410 N. Pickaway St. A three year letterman, Rod received All-SCOL mention in 1966, was first team all-league in '67 and all district honorable mention in '67.

He played defensive end and offensive tackle for the Tigers, logging as much playing time as anybody on the team.

He plans to major in business administration at Otterbein. Sine is a member of the Stooze Club, is a pole vaulter on the track team, participated in the senior class play.

His interests include photography and gymnastics.

Thornton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Route 2. He plans to major in agricultural economics at Cornell University.

PURSuing the college preparatory courses in high school, he maintained a 3.2 grade average.

He lettered two years in football as offensive center, and middle guard and was an all-league selection this past year.

He is a member of the English Merit Society, Stooze Club, participated in the junior and senior class plays, was on the track team three years, is a 4-H Club member, Junior Leadership Club member, was president of the Junior Fair Board, a member of the Farm Bureau Youth Council and a member of the Pickaway County Extension Advisory Committee.

Craig Lambert is the son of Mrs. Louise Lambert.

A two-way tackle, he has been selected to play in the annual North-South All-Star game at Canton. He was Circleville's most valuable player in 1967, and won all-league, all-district, allstate and All-American honorable mention honors.

Lambert lettered three years. MAJORING in the college prep curriculum, he carries a 3.3 grade average.

He is a four-year member of the Circleville baseball team and played basketball for two years. He was secretary of the Stooze Club, a member of the English Merit Society and a member of the cast of the junior and senior class plays.

Lambert plans to major in hotel administration at Cornell University.

Vikings Win First Game By 3-2 Score

A three run rally in the bottom of the seventh inning gave Teays Valley its first victory of the season, 3-2, over visiting Hamilton Twp. in a Metropolitan League Baseball game.

Hamilton scored in the first and fourth innings, holding a 2-0 lead until the final frame.

Jeff Derr led off the last inning for the Vikings, reaching first base on an error. Ken Parsons followed with a single and the Jim Chandler sacrificed advancing the baserunners.

Bob Cook's single drove home Derr and then Gary Southerns walked to load the bases. Dan Southerns then singled in the two winning runs. Cook has a double in addition to his game-winning single.

VAN GREGG was the winning pitcher. He fanned 11, allowed three hits and did not walk any batters.

Thursday Logan Elm travels to Teays Valley for a baseball game.

Viking Golfers Lose, 5 1/2-3 1/2

Teays Valley golfers were defeated by Pleasant View, 5 1/2-3 1/2, Tuesday, in a match at Oakhurst Country Club.

For the Vikings, Mark Coon carded a 42 for the low score. He picked up two points, playing in the third spot on the team.

Other scores were Mark Leatherwood, 14; Bob Welsh, 47; and Jim Pribble, 51, for a team total of 184. Pleasant View was led by medalist Durban, who toured the nine holes in 40 strokes. After fired a 51, Blaw a 44 and Dillahunty a 45.

In a reserve team match, the Vikings were also defeated 7-2. Lee Curry scored 43, Ed Combs, 55; Kelly Leatherwood 39; Jay Bastian, 44 for a 191 total.

Pleasant View golfers were Strait, 42; Young, 44; Anderson 43, and Dillahunty, 48.

O-I, Wardell Post Softball Wins

Owens-Illinois bombed General Electric, 27-4, and C. F. Wardell topped DuPont Construction, 14-10, in action Tuesday in men's softball at Ted Lewis Park.

O-I slashed 33 hits on the way to their romp. There were six homers, five triples and four doubles in the barrage. Paul Allen tagged six hits in six trips and D. Linthicum, John Cooper and D. Welch had five hits each.

Hott led a 12-hit return by GE with two safeties.

Wardell used 21 hits in their victory, including Ken Roese's homer. Mace doubled twice and Hunter had a lone double.

Red Sox, White Sox Score Wins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jose Santiago's luck is holding up. Joe Horlen's fortunes finally have taken a turn for the better and the Sox are on the run again.

Santiago hurled the Boston Red Sox to a 3-2 victory over Washington Tuesday night, extending his regular season winning streak—began last year—to 12 games.

Horlen, meanwhile, earned his first triumph of the season after a run of five setbacks as the Chicago White Sox trimmed California 6-4 with the help of a grand slam homer by Tom McCraw.

Their respective victories ended a three-game tailspin for Boston and moved last place Chicago within one game of the struggling New York Yankees.

Cleveland's streaking Indians buried the Yankees 8-0, Detroit edged Baltimore 2-1 and Minnesota shaded Oakland 2-1 in other games.

Santiago, who had strung together eight straight 1967 victories beginning last July, got help from his mound opponent, Joe Coleman, and Red Sox reliever Lee Stange in posting victory No. 4 this spring.

A balk by Coleman in the third inning sent home Boston's third run and Stange came out of the bullpen to get the last four outs after the Senators closed the gap with a run in the seventh and another in the eighth.

Joe Foy's first inning double and Carl Yastrzemski's third inning single drove in the Red Sox' first two runs, starting Washington on the way to its fifth loss in a row.

Horlen, whose early troubles paralleled the White Sox' sorry sendoff this year, blanked the slumping Angels until the seventh inning, when he eeded relief help to nail his first victory.

McCraw helped put Horlen over the top with his grand slam off loser Sammy Ellis in the White Sox' five-run third, then hastened the pitcher's seventh-inning exit with as error.

The Chicago first baseman said he's developed a "thing" about making bad fielding plays when Horlen is pitching. "I've been doing it for over a year now and I think now that I tighten up and try too hard when Horlen is on the mound," McCraw said.

The Sox led 6-0 when McCraw's boot and singles by Tom Satriano and Jimmie Hall filled the bases for Jim Fregosi, who stroked a two-run single that knocked out Horlen.

Luis Tiant scattered five hits and struck out 10 on the way to his third consecutive shutout as the Indians rolled past New York for their sixth straight victory.

Tiant contributed a two-run single, Tony Horton a two-run double and Jose Cardenal a two-run inside-the-park homer to the Indians' attack on loser Jim Bouton and two successors.

Cleveland pitchers have allowed just four runs during the winning streak.

Tom Matchick's two-run pinch hit double in the ninth gave Detroit a 2-0 lead and the Tigers withstood Boog Powell's homer to snap the Orioles' winning string at eight.

Winning pitcher Mickey Lolich and Baltimore's Tom Phoebus hooked up in a scoreless duel until the ninth, when two walks and a grand out set the stage for Matchick's decisive double to right center.

The Twins, who had dropped four straight, ended a four-game Oakland victory skein by pushing over two early runs and holding off a late rally by the A's, whose hopes for an eighth inning blitz died in a freak double play.

After yielding singles by Rick Monday and Danny Cater, winning pitcher Jim Perry grabbed Bert Campaneris' tap to the mound and trapped Monday off third. The relay to first caught Campaneris making a wide turn and he was run down for the second out.

Two more hits accounted for just one run before reliever Al Worthington pitched out of the jam.

Dancer's Image Owner Defends Trainer, Staff

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Charges of tampering reverberated in the turf world today over the disqualification of Dancer's Image from first place in America's most famous horse race, the Kentucky Derby.

Peter Fuller, owner of the 3-year-old colt, charged his horse had been tampered with.

"I'm going to get to the bottom of this and I'm going to offer a large financial reward to find the individual or individuals who tampered with my horse," the Boston sportsman said. "Anybody could have got to the horse before the race."

In what may become the most controversial incident in American thoroughbred history, Dancer's Image was disqualified and placed last by the Churchill Downs stewards Tuesday. This was three days after Dancer's Image, the 7-2 second choice, finished first in the Derby by 1 1/2 lengths over the favored Forward Pass.

The stewards disqualified Dancer's Image because of the presence of a pain-killing drug.

They said in a statement: "The chemist for the Kentucky State Racing Commission has reported that the analysis of the urine sample ... contained phenylbutazone and/or a derivative thereof."

Trainer Lou Cavalaris said he was stunned by the announcement. "Nothing like this has ever happened to me." Later in continued. "The facts should come out at a hearing before the commissioners." The hearing is scheduled for Monday.

Regardless of the outcome, there will be no change for the bettors. Under the rules of racing the wagering on the race is not affected.

Youth Baseball Candy Sale To Start This Weekend

The Circleville Youth Baseball candy sale will be held Friday and Saturday, May 17 and 18.

Managers and players may pick up candy from Bob Wood, corner of Guilford and Montclair, from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday and 4 to 6 p.m. Friday.

The candy sale is the only fund-raising campaign sponsored by the Youth Baseball program in which the youngsters participate.

The campaign annually produces over $1,000 net profit which is used to finance the program which costs nearly $5,000 a year to sponsor.

YOUNGSTERS who participate in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program are not required to pay any fees.

He need furnish only a glove and shoes. Uniforms, catching equipment, insurance and a place to play are provided for by the program.

Last year, in addition to the regular budget, the youth baseball program erected lights at the little league diamond at Ted Lewis Park.

In addition to the two diamonds at the park, the program utilizes and helps maintain diamonds at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds and at South Court and Atwater Schools.

The youth baseball program provides supervised recreation for over 500 youngsters during the summer months.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Peace has been restored to the fledgling American Basketball Association, but it could just be a temporary truce.

Two feuding Eastern owners, Arthur Brown of the New Jersey Americans and Gabe Rubin of the Pittsburgh Pipers, buried the hatchet for a while at Tuesday's concluding session of the ABA's annual meeting here.

But the matter is not ended. It could flare up again, if they do not reach agreement on a dispute over New Jersey's territorial rights.

Rubin is believed to be trying to move his Pittsburgh team to New York City. Brown says he can't do it without compensating New Jersey for an infringement of the latter's 100-mile territorial protection rights listed in the ABA by-laws.

Commissioner George Mikan was optimistic that the air had been sufficiently cleared. "We met the challenge and are moving on," he said.

The Brown-Rubin confrontation overshadowed what had been expected to be a fight between Brown and Mikan over the commissioner's ordering the forfeiture a month ago of the New Jersey-Kentucky playoff game for fourth place in the Eastern Division.

While acknowledging that the forfeiture still irritates him, Brown said it was never his intention to seek Mikan's resignation or removal at this meeting.

"It was untrue," Brown told The Associated Press. "We're not looking for blood or anything. We're just looking to see that it doesn't happen again. At the very least, I would hope to eliminate any such decision being made in the future."

Some of those attending Monday's meeting had come away with the distinct impression that Brown was after Mikan's job.

Six Circleville Gridders Set Sights on College

Six members of the Circleville High School South Central Ohio League championship football team have signed letters of intent to attend colleges. All plan to play football.

Four of the six have received scholarships, one has been appointed to the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colorado, and one has enrolled at Whittenburg at the invitation of the football staff there although the school does not grant scholarships unless there is financial need.

Dick Thornton and Craig Lambert have both received athletic scholarships at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. Rod Sines has an athletic scholarship at Otterbein College, Westerville.

Bill Gates will go to Centerville Community College, Centerville, Ia., where he has received a football scholarship.

BOB Tootle has received an Air Force Academy appointment, which although is not an athletic grant came because of his football ability and scholastic achievement.

Steve Carroll will attend Whittenburg University, Springfield.

Carroll is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, 939 Circle Drive. He lettered two years in football at Circleville and was an All-South Central Ohio League guard.

Carrying a 3.74 grade average,

Carroll was a candidate for the SCO League scholar-athlete award. He is a member of the National Honor Society, English Merit Society, Stooze Club and the play committee.

A college prep major in high school, Carroll plans to major in mathematics at Whittenburg. Tootle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick T. Tootle, Route 2. He quarterbacked the Tigers to two consecutive South Central Ohio League championships.

HE was a member of the basketball team for three years. An honor graduate of Circleville High School, Bob is a member of National Honor Society and the English Merit Society. He was president of the junior class, vice president of the senior class and president of the Stooze Club.

In addition to his school activities, Tootle was a delegate to Buckeye Boys State, a delegate to Farm Bureau Youth Leadership Conference at Otterbein College, the county winner in the Circleville BPO Elks Youth Leadership contest.

He is a member of Circleville Methodist Church and a five year member of 4-H Club in Wayne Twp.

Gates is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates, 290 Lewis Road. He pursued a general course in high school and plans to major in physical education at Centerville College.

He lettered two years in football as a linebacker and end. He received All-SCO League, All-Central District and honorable mention All-Ohio honors.

In addition to football, Gates competed in wrestling and track in high school. He is a member of the Stooze Club and was in the senior class play.

AN interesting sidelight of his choice of schools is that Centerville will be playing Northeastern A&M of Oklahoma in its first game. Another Tiger griddier, Tom Fletcher, is attending A&M and earned a starting berth at tackle as a freshman.

Sines is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sines, 410 N. Pickaway St. A three year letterman, Rod received All-SCOL mention in 1966, was first team all-league in '67 and all district honorable mention in '67.

He played defensive end and offensive tackle for the Tigers, logging as much playing time as anybody on the team.

He plans to major in business administration at Otterbein. Sine is a member of the Stooze Club, is a pole vaulter on the track team, participated in the senior class play.

His interests include photography and gymnastics. Thornton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Route 2. He plans to major in agricultural economics at Cornell University.

PURSUING the college preparatory courses in high school, he maintained a 3.2 grade average.

He lettered two years in football as offensive center, and middle guard and was an all-league selection this past year.

He is a member of the English Merit Society, Stooze Club, participated in the junior and senior class plays, was on the track team three years, is a 4-H Club member, Junior Leadership Club member, was president of the Junior Fair Board, a member of the Farm Bureau Youth Council and a member of the Pickaway County Extension Advisory Committee.

Craig Lambert is the son of Mrs. Louise Lambert.

A two-way tackle, he has been selected to play in the annual North-South All-Star game at Canton. He was Circleville's most valuable player in 1967, and won all-league, all-district, allstate and All-American honorable mention honors.

Lambert lettered three years. MAJORING in the college prep curriculum, he carries a 3.3 grade average.

He is a four-year member of the Circleville baseball team and played basketball for two years. He was secretary of the Stooze Club, a member of the English Merit Society and a member of the cast of the junior and senior class plays.

Lambert plans to major in hotel administration at Cornell University.

Wilmington Wins 1968 SCO Track Championship

Wilmington High School ran strong in the track events and was crowned the 1968 South Central Ohio League track king in Tuesday's finals at Wilmington.

Circleville High School, defending champions two years running, finished fourth in the six-team meet with 33 points. The winning Hurricane posted 68½ points. Greenfield McClain was second with 57½. Third went to Washington C.H. with 50 points.

Miami Trace captured 26 points for fifth place and Hillsboro was last with five points.

Circleville took two firsts in the meet, three thirds, five fourths and two fifths. Rod Sines cleared the pole vault bar at 11-feet in one first place finish and Mel Smith ran the two-mile in 10:35.9.

RANDY Weller placed third in the shot put and fourth in the discus. Daryl Brown was also a double finisher with a third in the mile run and a fourth in the 880-yard run.

Mark Downing was third in the two-mile run. Jim Samuel was fourth in the pole vault and Dave Hopkins was fourth in the 440-yard run. The mile relay team finished fourth.

Dick Thornton was fifth in the shot put and the 880-yard relay team was fifth.

Butch Walker set two new meet records in the shot put and discus for Greenfield. He heaved the 12-pound shot 52-feet 3-inches, bettering Dave Bihl's record toss in last year's meet. Walter's 137-foot 10-inch toss of the discus topped the standard set by Circleville's Vern Reichmanis of 137-foot six-inches.

Greenfield captured seven first places in the 15-event meet to Wilmington's three. But the Hurricanes came on strong in the running events and placed seven seconds to pull away from the McClain Tigers.

Shot Put — Walker (G), Penwell (WCH), Weller (KC), Jacobs (H Thornton) (C), 52'3" SCOL record. Discus — Walker (G), Shaltry (WCH), Waddle (MT), Weller (G), Summers (MT), 137' 10½" SCOL record.

Want Cemetery For Baseball Field
PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Portland's recreation superintendent suggested Tuesday that a cemetery controlled by the city be used as a baseball field.

Bernard B. Campbell told a model cities task force on housing and physical improvements "there's a crying need for places for boys to play baseball. The only place we can find is Western Cemetery."

Ryan Leads Mets over Cardinals, 4-1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nolan Ryan might soak his pitching hand in pickle juice, but after several whiffs, the St. Louis Cardinals were comparing him to Sandy Koufax and his odorless ice water.

The 21-year-old hurler zipped his fast ball by the National League leading Cardinals for eight strikeouts and a three-hitter Tuesday night and the New York Mets had themselves a 4-1 victory.

"He's faster than Koufax and he's the fastest I've seen in the major leagues," marveled the Cardinals' Mike Shannon, although he'd rather face Ryan than Koufax "because Koufax had the tougher curve."

Right-hander Ryan, you see, soaks his pitching hand in pickle juice between innings to toughen the skin because of blisters, while lefty Koufax used ice water to keep down the swelling on his arthritic left elbow. Mike Ryan, who is trying to make a name for himself in the majors as a catcher, might need some pickle juice for blisters himself after extra hitting practice paid off with a game-winning hit in Philadelphia's 5-2 victory over Cincinnati.

In other NL games, the Atlanta Braves edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Houston bombed Juan Marichal and San Francisco 7-1 at night and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in the afternoon.

Ryan, who shut out Philadelphia and struck out 10 in his last outing, was not even at his best against the Cardinals as he raised his record to 3-2.

"I didn't have my best fast ball, but I had pretty good control," the young rookie said. Ryan fell behind in the third when Bobby Tolan singled in the St. Louis run, but he was in command the rest of the way. Art Shamsky gave him runs he needed in the seventh against Nelson Briles, 4-2, when he followed Dave Boswell's single with his first home run of the season for a 2-1 lead.

Mike Ryan, who hasn't hit better than .214 in 2½ seasons in the majors, lined a tie-breaking two-run triple out of the reach of diving outfielder Pete Rose in the seventh inning in Philadelphia's triumph.

"I have been out at this ball park since noon today," a tired Ryan said after the game. "Manager Gene Mauch was throwing to me to help me improve my batting. I hope to see more action if I can do better at the plate."

He currently is hitting an embarrassing .172. In contrast, Rose extended his hitting streak to 22 games with a single.

Felix Milan singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for Atlanta, beating the Pirates' Al McBean, who had a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings and only wound up with his second loss against four victories.

Don Wilson scattered seven hits and stroke a two-run single to cap a four-run seventh inning that knocked out Juan Marichal in Houston's victory. Wilson evened his record at 2-2, although Mike Cuellar had to get the last two outs.

Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, with relief help from John Billingham, outdueling Richie Nye of the Cubs as Ron Fairly drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and Rocky Colavito singled in the winner in the fifth.

PCC Men's Golf League Starts Season

The Pickaway Country Club Men's Golf League opened its competition Tuesday with team No. 1 scoring 16½ points in the initial round.

Members of the team are Steve Helwage, Howie Davies, Rudy Chelkowski, Jim Stallings, Bill Smith, Ross Spalding, Mark Davis, Dick Sutton.

Low gross score was carded by Maynard Eaton. He shot a 37, one over par. Everett Seeds and Art Cross tied for low net, both with 33s.

Pickaway Country Club pro Terry Dilts reminded golfers that the annual Men's Roundup is scheduled Saturday beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Red Wings Top Colonels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Louisville's Colonels, the International League's newest member, have become acquainted the last couple of nights with one of the circuit's oldest gamewreckers.

As a result, the Colonels' once-formidable league lead over the Rochester Red Wings has shrunk to half a game.

The wrecker, of course, is veteran Rochester third baseman Steve Demeter. He did in Louisville Monday night with a 10th inning single that gave the Red Wings a 3-2 victory. The Red Wings won again Tuesday night, again by 3-2, on a three-run homer by Demeter.

Other Tuesday night action saw Buffalo whip Richmond 4-1, Jacksonville turn back Toledo 2-0 and Columbus beat Syracuse 4-2.

Jim McAndrew and Don Shaw combined for Jacksonville's five-hit shutout. Four-hit pitching by Jim O'Toole and Dock Ellis gave Columbus its third straight victory. Elvio Jimenez homered for the Jets.

"I didn't have my best fast ball, but I had pretty good control," the young rookie said. Ryan fell behind in the third when Bobby Tolan singled in the St. Louis run, but he was in command the rest of the way.

Art Shamsky gave him runs he needed in the seventh against Nelson Briles, 4-2, when he followed Dave Boswell's single with his first home run of the season for a 2-1 lead.

Mike Ryan, who hasn't hit better than .214 in 2½ seasons in the majors, lined a tie-breaking two-run triple out of the reach of diving outfielder Pete Rose in the seventh inning in Philadelphia's triumph.

"I have been out at this ball park since noon today," a tired Ryan said after the game. "Manager Gene Mauch was throwing to me to help me improve my batting. I hope to see more action if I can do better at the plate."

He currently is hitting an embarrassing .172.

In contrast, Rose extended his hitting streak to 22 games with a single.

Felix Milan singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for Atlanta, beating the Pirates' Al McBean, who had a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings and only wound up with his second loss against four victories.

Don Wilson scattered seven tice paid off with a game-winning hit in Philadelphia's 5-2 victory over Cincinnati.

In other NL games, the Atlanta Braves edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Houston bombed Juan Marichal and San Francisco 7-1 at night and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in the afternoon.

Ryan, who shut out Philadelphia and struck out 10 in his last outing, was not even at his best against the Cardinals as he raised his record to 3-2.
